'4½-Ton Soviet 'Space Ship' In Orbit

Super Rocket Hurls Biggest Satellite Aloft

Vehicle, Carrying Dummy Astronaut,
Sends Back Signals

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's 4½-ton space ship, carrying a dummy astronaut and "the necessary equipment for future manned space flight," was reported cruising obediently along its chartered course around the earth Sunday.

Radio Moscow said the ship, hurled aloft by a "super-rocket," is sending back signals confirming "the good agreement between its actual orbit and the calculated one."

The feat—representing the biggest satellite ever hurled into space by man — was obviously timed to give Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a boost for Monday's summit meeting in Paris.

200 Miles Above Earth

The satellite went into orbit about 200 miles above the earth (225 miles at its highest, 188½ at its lowest). The Soviet news agency Tass said it was circling the earth every 91 minutes. All equipment was reported working perfectly.

Soviet scientists boasted the launching of the mammoth vehicle "once again demonstrates the Soviet Union's lead in space exploration."

Tass said the ship would be controlled from the earth but no attempt will be made to retrieve the "dummy spaceman."

"When the necessary information is received from the satellite," Tass added, "a pressurized cabin weighing some 2½ tons will be separated from it. In this case it is not planned to retrieve the pressurized cabin."

It will burn up in the atmosphere as it drops.

Prof. Viktor Bazekin, head of the Moscow Planetarium, told a reporter there that the next step in space flight would be an attempt to bring a pressurized cabin back by parachute without burning up.

Whistling Signal

He said the schedule for detaching the cabin on the Sputnik launched Sunday had not yet been worked out. As he spoke, the amplified whistling signal of the newest Soviet space rocket echoed through the Planetarium. Moscow radio said the space ship was visible to the naked eye—in hours of darkness—as it made its "flight through celestial space."

The station broadcast recorded beeps of the ship which sounded like a distant train whistle.

Western suspicions that the Soviets needed an extra rocket boost to launch such a heavy satellite were confirmed by one broadcast: "Prof. Vladimir Dobronravov, a top Soviet space scientist, said the launching was closely linked with 'super-rocket' test firings" into the Pacific by the Soviets in January.

At that time, Moscow said the tests were intended for "orbiting heavy earth satellites and space flights toward the planets of the solar system."

Herter "Misquoted" On More Spy Flights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the U. S. Information Agency denied Sunday that Secretary of State Christian A. Herter had said spy flights would continue over the Soviet Union.

George V. Allen, the director, declared that Herter on Thursday "said that there is an obligation and responsibility on the part of the U. S. government and of the free world to try to obtain information to guard against surprise attack, but he has not said we are going to continue to fly."

Allen, appearing on the ABC-TV program, "College News Conference," asserted "there has been a great misunderstanding that I would like to correct" about what Herter said.

Nixon Sees Election Fight With Kennedy On Economic Issues

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — In an off-the-record talk to 100 industrialists, Vice President Richard M. Nixon has predicted the presidential campaign will be fought out by himself and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) on the issue of federal intervention in economy.

According to some of those present, Nixon said Kennedy would enter the Democratic convention in July, "pretty much under the control of the labor bosses" and would be "pushed to the left of his party" by campaign pressures.

"The speech, followed by question and answer sessions, was delivered Friday night to the Business Advisory Council of the Commerce Department under the group's rules — no reporters admitted. Newsmen obtained rather detailed accounts subsequently from some of those who attended.

The group, made up of the heads of scores of the country's biggest corporations, has been holding its spring meeting here with Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller.

Its members gave Nixon, who is expected to receive the Republican presidential nomination in July, an ovation.

Nixon made a strong and "very frank" defense of the espionage use of the U2 reconnaissance plane shot down over the Soviet Union members said, while admitting that the capture of plane and pilot came at an embarrassing time.

Nixon was quoted as saying that such flights over four years had provided essential information including hundreds of thousands of pictures which could be obtained in no other way.

The vice president held it was the responsibility of the President to take every measure necessary to protect the country, and disagreed with critics of the timing of the ill-fated flight just before the summit conference.

The timing is always wrong when you are caught, Nixon said.

Bakery Executive Dies Of Heart Attack

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Louis E. Caster, an executive with wide-ranging interests in the bakery, television, banking and health insurance fields, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 63.

He headed bakery companies in Rockford, Aurora, Joliet and Peoria, Ill.; and was board member of the Campbell-Taggart Associated Bakers, Dallas, Tex.

Youth's Mother Refuses To Believe He's Sniper

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — "He told me if they picked him up, he would admit he was the sniper, but I don't believe he did it."

So said Mrs. John Criswell Sunday of her son, Howard, 18, who was arrested Saturday night as the gunman who terrorized a neighborhood for three weeks.

Criswell, in a signed statement, admitted nine separate snipings and blamed an "urge to kill" for the attacks, police said. He is being held in the County Jail without bond and Sheriff Tom Cartwright said he will undergo a mental examination Monday.

Mrs. Criswell, 39, and her husband, 50, both denied the boy ever mentioned any such feeling to them.

"He said he didn't like cops," the father said. "But he never said anything about killing."

Cassino Survivors Hear Pope's Appeal

CASSINO, Italy (AP) — Pope John XXIII appealed for a just peace between nations in a message Sunday to survivors of the World War II battle of Monte Cassino.

Veterans of 14 nations — old friends and old foes alike — made a pilgrimage to this central Italian village united in a desire to demonstrate their hate of war.

Their return to the battlefield came as the Big Four leaders gathered in Paris for a crucial East-West summit meeting.

In his message to the gathering here, Pope John obviously was thinking of the Paris meeting, although he made no direct mention of it.

The head of the Roman Catholic Church said he prayed to God "to put into the heart of all men a thirst for a true peace, which He alone can give: peace in souls, peace in families, peace in society, peace between nations with justice."

U. of Md. Coed Found Dead In Shower Stall

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Joanna Bray, 19-year-old sophomore from Bethesda, Md., was found dead Sunday in a University of Maryland dormitory shower stall.

A university spokesman said the victim's body had stopped up the drain and her head was face down in several inches of water.

Miss Bray was pronounced dead at Dorchester Hall by Dr. Norman H. Rubenstein, of the university's health service staff.

After an autopsy Sunday night, it was ruled an accidental death by drowning, following a concussion.

Who's Ahead Speculation Is Rekindled

Hagen Thinks U.S. Leads In Solving Re-Entry Problem

By The Associated Press
The Soviet launching of a 4½-ton space ship carrying a dummy astronaut brought general scientific acclaim Sunday and some predictions that manned space flight is imminent.

There were differing views on the relative positions of the United States and the Soviet Union in the race to put a man in space.

The Soviets said the launching "once again demonstrates the Soviet Union's lead in space explorations."

Dr. John P. Hagen of the U. S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said, however, the use of a "dummy spaceman" may mean the Soviets are behind the United States in their space program.

Hagen, onetime director of the U. S. Vanguard program, said the space ship announcement indicates the Soviets "have not faced up to the most serious problem—how to solve the re-entry problem and recover a man safely from orbit."

"We think that we (American scientists) understand how to do this and to do it well. It's not clear that the Russians do."

Radio Moscow flooded the airwaves with forecasts that the Soviet Union will put the first man into space.

Many of the experts quoted in the Moscow broadcasts, noted, however, that Soviet scientists still have to master the problem of getting an astronaut safely back to earth.

Moscow quoted Dr. L. I. Sedov, president of the International Astronautical Federation, as saying "It is now clear to everybody that we have the apparatus in which man can set off to outer space."

"But before such a flight can be made, much experimental work still must be carried out. The problem of safe return to earth has not yet been solved," Sedov added.

A prominent German rocket expert, Dr. Hermann Oberth, said the latest Soviet space venture "leads one to conclude that a manned flight into space is imminent."

Oberth, who worked on the development of Nazi Germany's V-2 rocket and until two years ago for the U. S. Army, called the launching "a very good achievement."

At the same time, Oberth predicted the United States soon will be able to match Soviet space feats.

"In fact," he added, "it is entirely possible that Americans will launch a manned space ship in Florida this fall."

Socialist Gains Hurt Adenauer

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Socialist gains cut the strength of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats in a major state election Sunday.

The Christian Democrats retained their majority in Baden-Wuerttemberg, West Germany's third largest state, but the Socialists were the only party to emerge from the poll with added strength.

Only a little more than three million of the five million eligible voters cast ballots.

Final unofficial returns gave the Christian Democrats 39.4 per cent of the popular vote and the Socialists 35.5 per cent. In the last state elections, it was 42.6 and 28.9 respectively.

The agency said the collision occurred just outside of Leipzig's main railroad station.

Atom Test Ban With Calculated Risk Possible

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower may strike a bargain with Premier Nikita Khrushchev this week for a nuclear test ban treaty with a built-in calculated risk.

The President's decision could be one of the most momentous of his career.

It may halt the development of new or improved nuclear weapons in Western arsenals. And—in view of many Western scientists—it may leave the Soviet Union to continue its own nuclear weapons program in secret in the depths of the earth.

At the same time, the treaty would bring three advantages:

1. It would remove the health hazard of radioactive fallout from nuclear tests above ground.
2. It would install an unprecedented system of international control posts and mobile inspectors, however, restricted, in the Soviet Union.
3. It would set a precedent for East-West agreement on other and more far-reaching measures of disarmament.

Eisenhower is prepared to meet Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on the sidelines of the summit conference to discuss the major obstacles in the Big Three test ban talks under way for 18 months at Geneva.

If these were resolved here, the Geneva negotiators could complete the treaty draft within a few weeks. A test ban might be ready for ratification by fall.

Eisenhower's decision will be determined by Khrushchev's attitude toward putting teeth into the draft treaty's complex system to prevent violations.

Wife Crash-Lands Plane After Husband Stricken

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A terrified woman, desperately trying to fly an airplane with the inert body of her stricken husband still at the controls brought the light craft in to a shattering crash landing at Love Field Saturday night.

Mrs. Spencer F. Black, 39, who never had flown a plane, survived with severe injuries. Her 50-year-old oilman husband apparently died of a heart attack at the plane's controls.

Reaching over his body to grasp the wheel, she had wobbled the plane over north Dallas while shouting "SOS" into the radio. Personnel at the control tower of the Municipal Airport tried desperately to direct her to a landing.

Red 'Space Ship' Visible In U.S.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory Sunday reported the Soviet "space ship" will be visible to the naked eye in many U.S. cities Monday morning.

Smithsonian scientists said the satellite will be as bright as the brightest star and will be in view for three to four minutes, as follows (all times local time):

To the southeast of Florida at 3:52 a. m., New York City 3:55 a. m.; and Newfoundland 3:57 a. m.; almost directly overhead of Houston, Tex., 4:23 a. m., St. Louis 4:26 a. m., Chicago 4:26 a. m., So. Nixon May Aid Davis In N.D.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon may step up his own presidential campaign by jumping into the North Dakota Senate race in behalf of Republican Gov. John E. Davis, informed sources said Sunday.

Nixon has an invitation to speak at the North Dakota American Legion Convention at Williston on June 20.

If he accepts it could be an exception to two personal guidelines he has established.

The first is that he would wait until formally nominated as the Republican presidential candidate at Chicago the week of July 25 before starting widespread campaign efforts.

The other is that he would remain in or near Washington when President Eisenhower is overseas. The President may be in the Soviet Union at the time.

It is known, however, that Eisenhower has approved in advance any brief trips outside Washington for Nixon, who appears assured of the GOP nomination.

Clash Follows Turk Leader's Election Pledge

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — Supporters of Turkey's two rival political parties staged a free-for-all in the streets of Izmir Sunday just after Prime Minister Adnan Menderes promised a national election if the nation stays calm.

The street fighting started when some 4,000 youths showed up outside headquarters of the opposition People's Republican party shouting "Freedom, freedom," and "Menderes resign." An equal number of Menderes' supporters moved in and a lively clash resulted.

Troops and police charged into the mob, and dispersed it in 50 minutes. But tension in the city continued to run high.

Menderes reached Izmir shortly after noon on a tour of Aegean provinces. The 61-year-old Premier, who has been in power 10 years, wants to test local sentiment about his strict policies curbing the opposition party.

He was dining at a restaurant some distance away when the shouting and slugging match broke out.

His conditional promise of new elections, made in an arrival speech, was his first public mention of voting since student anti-government riots broke out in Istanbul and Ankara April 28 and 29.

"We are determined to do away with these disturbances, and solve the problem at its roots with the people's will. Elections are the democratic way, the free way, the only way," he said.

Menderes did not specify an election date but he is bound by the Turkish constitution to call one by the spring of 1961.

Eve Of Talks Finds Khrush In 'Bad Mood'

Red Leader Confers With British, French Chiefs, Not With Ike

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was reported in a bad mood Sunday and a new wave of pessimism swept diplomatic quarters in Paris on the eve of the summit meeting of the world's great powers.

President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and Khrushchev open their talks Monday in search of means for rescuing civilization from the threat of disaster.

For a time a little of the gloom seemed to be lifting as the summit leaders assembled in Paris.

Booied by the news that his scientists had boosted a record weight 4½-ton space ship into orbit around the earth, Khrushchev was grinning and relaxed as he appeared for separate preconference talks with De Gaulle and then Macmillan.

Eisenhower and Macmillan, arriving in Paris, issued brief speeches carefully moderated to avoid roiling further the turbulent atmosphere resulting from the bitter Soviet-American exchanges over the U. S. spy plane incident.

But late in the day West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, returning to Bonn from meetings here with the Western Big Three, reported Khrushchev appeared in a "bad mood."

Gloom Increases
Following this, pessimism deepened as time seemed to be running out for a preconference meeting with Eisenhower and Khrushchev.

Khrushchev had not taken the initiative in seeking a meeting with Eisenhower as he did in the cases of De Gaulle and Macmillan.

Possibly Khrushchev expected an American approach for an Eisenhower talk, and this may have been behind his reported dourness.

White House Secretary James C. Hagerty implied that any initiative for an Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting would have to come from the Soviet side.

Hagerty told a news conference he knew of no approach for such a meeting from either side. When asked why meetings were arranged between Khrushchev and the other two leaders and not between the Russian and American, he replied:

"That is a question you would have to put to Mr. Khrushchev." He said De Gaulle, "of course," had filled in his Western colleagues on his talk with the Soviet Premier.

There still were high hopes that a conference-wrecking slugfest would be avoided.

Western Leaders Huddle
One indication was a remark of a high-ranking Soviet spokesman to an American correspondent that "the atmosphere is normal. It is better than in Moscow."

Moscow at the moment is still busy extending its propaganda campaign over the spy plane incident.

The stage-setting talks included, besides the Khrushchev-De Gaulle and Khrushchev-Macmillan meetings, a session of the three Western chiefs of government with Adenauer to discuss the subjects of divided Germany and threatened West Berlin. The four announced full agreement on these subjects in readiness for the summit.

After Adenauer departed for Bonn, the Big Three chiefs met again, this time taking up the subjects of disarmament and East-West relations.

None of the four leaders' spokesmen divulged much of what went on.

To reporters' questions, Hagerty responded, in effect, "You'll have to wait until tomorrow and see."

Eisenhower, on his arrival by jet, expressed hope the conference can achieve a beginning toward (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Remains Of 6th Flier Found In Desert

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Two British petroleum men report they have found the remains of another member of an American "ghost" bomber crew which bailed out over the North African desert after a combat mission in World War II.

The B24 "Lady Be Good" landed on the desert after a bombing raid on Naples, Italy, April 4, 1943. Its radio was still intact and water jugs were still filled when found last year. Air Force officials then said the nine-man crew probably would have survived if they had stayed aboard or found the plane after bailing out.

Last February, British petroleum men found the bodies of five crewmen.

Humphrey withdrew from the contest for a top place on the ticket after he was upset by Kennedy in last Tuesday's West Virginia primary.

Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut; Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas; and Adlai E. Stevenson were asked to contribute articles, but declined.

Here are brief excerpts from the seven articles:

Six, Including Fireman, Die In Md. Accidents

Six persons met accidental death in Maryland during the weekend, including a volunteer fireman fighting a Bladensburg house fire intentionally set during a training drill.

Gerard Augustus Britton, 27, of East Riverdale, Md., a probationary volunteer at the Riverdale Heights Fire Department, was pronounced dead on arrival at Prince Georges General Hospital Saturday.

Death was attributed to smoke inhalation as they tried to rescue Britton from a second floor bedroom of the two-story frame house. All reportedly wore gas masks but the smoke was more dense than anticipated.

County Fire Marshal Lawrence R. Woltz said he would check material left in the house and the condition of the gas masks.

One man was killed and three were injured Sunday when a car in which he was riding smashed into the concrete siding of the Conowingo Dam Bridge. The car was northbound on U. S. 1.

State Police identified the dead man as George A. Fogus, 40, of Conowingo. The driver of the car, Roy Sisk, also of Conowingo, did not require hospitalization.

One of two drowning victims was 1-year-old Mark Anthony Smith of Sharpsburg, who wandered away Saturday as his father was working in the yard. The father found his son lying face down in a drainage ditch containing less than a foot of water.

Other weekend victims included Christine Smith, 9, of suburban Hagerstown, struck by a car as she ran across a street outside her home. She died of internal injuries and multiple fractures in Washington County Hospital soon after the accident Saturday.

Catherine A. Montgomery, 3, of Bay Ridge, Anne Arundel County, drowned Friday night in Chesapeake Bay.

Thurman Covington, 35, Negro, of Baltimore, thrown from a car during a police chase Saturday and run over by a State Police car.

Unmanned Jet Surveillance Drone Tested

YUMA TEST STATION, Ariz. (AP)—The Army has launched and flown for the first time an unmanned, jet surveillance drone.

Flown by remote control, the high-performance USDs skimmed over the electronics proving ground range Saturday until directed to parachute to earth.

Designed for greater speed and endurance than propeller-driven drones, the USDs carried electronic surveillance equipment to provide Army commanders with continuous information on enemy movements.

The turbojet craft was designed and built by Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp., Hagerstown, Md. On its initial flight, officers said, the USDs provided useful data transmitted through the range instrumentation system.

Butler Believes Khrush On Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, not President Eisenhower, must make concessions at the summit meeting which opens in Paris Monday, Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) said Sunday.

Butler said Khrushchev cannot afford an open breach between East and West.

Increased tensions, he added, would only alienate the Russian people who are anxious to hold onto the small comforts they have accumulated after 40 years of sacrifice.

Butler said the shooting down of an American airplane over Russia — an incident overshadowing the summit conference — symbolizes U. S. ability to best the Communists in spying.

It also proved conclusively, Butler added in a statement, the ineptness and inability of Soviet air defenses.

Morse Assails Veto Of Needed Bills By GOP

ACCOKEEK, Md. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said Sunday President Eisenhower's veto last week of a depressed areas bill shows Republican lack of concern with pockets of chronic unemployment.

And Morse, entered in Tuesday's presidential preferential primary election against Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), said use of the veto to block needed legislation will defeat the GOP in November.

This is the second time, Morse said, that President Eisenhower vetoed a depressed areas bill.

Not only does it indicate Republicans' lack of concern with pockets of chronic unemployment but it also exemplifies the GOP attitude toward the entire question of full employment and economic growth, Morse added.

A veto has also been threatened, Morse said in a speech to the Democratic Club of Accokeek, on a bill to provide medical insurance for social security recipients.

"As in the case of depressed areas," Morse said, "the administration gives lip service to the need to do something about health care of the aged, but it objects to specific programs that are really effective."

Morse said Kennedy showed a lack of interest in such legislation by failing to participate in Senate debate on a bill Morse introduced in 1958.

Einstein Girl Faces Student Riot Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A granddaughter of the late Albert Einstein was one of the students arrested Friday in a protest riot against a City Hall hearing of a House subcommittee on Un-American Activities.

Evelyn Einstein, 19, charged with disturbing the peace, rioting, and resisting arrest, is under order to appear in Municipal Court Monday morning. She is free on $210 bail.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been reading your column for a long time and I enjoy it a lot but I'm sure you must make up the letters. Nobody can be so dumb as to get into the jams that I read about in your column.

I'm not complaining, mind you, it's good entertainment. Your column alone is worth the price of this newspaper but I just had to let you know I'm reading you regularly, with tongue in cheek.

—X-RAY ED

DEAR X-RAY: Thanks for the vote of no-confidence. It bothers me not that you think I invent the letters. You aren't the only one.

What did you think about the woman who sued her husband for divorce because he insisted that she pay him (out of her household budget) union-scale wages for emptying the garbage and doing other odd jobs around the house? If you recall, he was an $18,000 a year vice president of a bank.

And how about the man who divorced his wife because she insisted he wear a chauffeur's uniform and wait outside when she went visiting or shopping?

Good entertainment? Well, these incidents aren't from my column, Buster; they're recent news stories.

Human nature being what it is,

She introduces him around to everyone as DOCTOR So and So, which is an obvious attempt to give the false impression that he is a medical doctor.

I think she should introduce him as "Throckmorton Swineburn" (not his real name) and then say "He's a dentist." Am I right?—A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A dentist is a doctor of dentistry and has earned the professional title. It is perfectly proper to introduce him as Dr. Throckmorton Swineburn, which I am happy is not his real name.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TOMMY'S MOM: Don't deceive yourself. Tommy has pegged you as the "softest parent." Thrash out the problems with your husband privately, then present a united front. Children learn early how to play off one parent against the other.

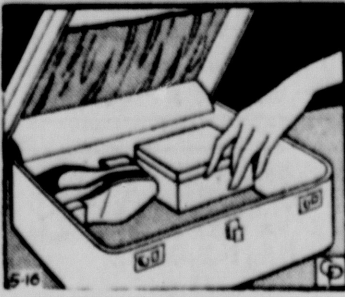

CONFIDENTIAL TO BLACK AND BLUE: Tell him to practice the judo holds on his male friends. I don't blame your father for getting burned up.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

DEAR ANN: A woman I know is engaged to marry a dentist.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠A 6 4 2 ♥J 7 5 ♦6 ♣K Q J 8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♥	Pass	Pass

What do you bid?

A.—Four hearts. Your hand has a great deal too much strength for a single raise. You should have no concern over the texture of your trump support for an overall at the two level should be based on a robust suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold (with 80 part score):

♠8 7 3 2 ♥Q 10 8 ♦K 8 ♣A K 9 7

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Two hearts. This is to protect the situation where partner has a very strong hand which may be suitable for slam. If he has a mediocre hand two hearts will be safe. A response of two clubs would be improper. In view of the score partner might pass with some doubtful club holding.

Q. 3—Partner opens with one heart and you hold:

♠6 3 ♥K 9 7 4 ♦A Q J 7 3 ♣Q J

What is your response?

A.—Either of two bids is acceptable, the jump to three hearts or the temporary bid of two diamonds. In cases like this, preference should probably be given to the suit take-out because it is such a good suit that it may provide discards and lay the basis for big things if partner happens to have a strong opening bid. Where the suit is not one which is readily established for discards, the direct raise is to be preferred.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠K J 9 6 5 ♥Q 7 2 ♦Q 10 3 ♣6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♠	1 ♦	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. This hand does not possess the strength to justify a free bid. True it counts nine points, but two of the points, as represented by the queen of diamonds, the adversely bid suit, should not be regarded quite so highly. If partner fails to act on his own power nothing will have been lost.

hand worth 19 or 20 points. You have 18, which gives you a total of 37 points, enough for a grand slam. Remember that a jump to three of a suit followed by six, no trump is a little stronger than just a jump to six no trump.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠K 4 ♥6 ♦A K J 10 2 ♣A J 10 4 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	?	Pass

What do you bid?

A.—Against hearts your hand should produce three tricks. The no trump opener should produce four. A two trick penalty is in sight. Double.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠K 7 4 ♥A K 5 ♦K 6 4 2 ♣A 8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♦	1 ♥	?

What do you bid?

A.—Though this hand has enormous high card power, it possesses the infirmity of the 4-3-3-3 distribution. Note that it is not worth the 19 points which are required for an immediate jump shift. The proper call is three no trump, which describes a balanced hand containing 16, 17, or 18 points in high cards. Partner will then be in position to judge the partnership assets and act accordingly.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Joan Collins is going to marry Warren Beatty, become one of Walt's most valuable aides.

This she confirmed when I talked with her on Wednesday. She leaves for Rome June 7 to co-star with Richard Egan in "Story of Esther."

She said, "A few days before I leave for Rome Warren and I are going to announce our engagement. He'll have to stay in New York because of 'Splendor in the Grass' which he is making with Natalie Wood for Elia Kazan. He'll join me in Rome in August if he is finished. If not, I'll come back as soon as 'Esther' is completed. We won't marry until we finish our present assignments."

Joan said she told 20th Century-Fox she would do the picture although both she and Warren hate to be separated.

John Ford, who has forgotten more about directing than many directors will ever know in a lifetime, was having a ball directing his pal, Ward Bond, in a "Wagon Train" segment when I talked with him. It's John's third TV job, and you can take it from me he polished up the script and authored the story.

I asked John about Woody Strode, former football star and twice All-America, who was in his most recent movie "Sergeant Rutledge."

"Woody will play a top character role—an Indian chief—in a western I am preparing," said John.

The rival given Fred MacMurray in "The Absent-minded Professor" is Elliott Reid, who comes here from Broadway to play a stuffy college teacher and Fred's romantic rival who is in a continual lather over MacMurray's forgetfulness of the girl they both love. Reid joins Fred, Keenan Wynn, Nancy Olson and the rest of the cast at Walt Disney's in June.

Reid has just appeared with Hermione Gingold in "From A to Z," and recently on Ed Sullivan's TV show giving satirical impressions.

Bill Walsh, who scripted "The Absent-minded Professor" with William Roberts, is also serving as associate producer for Disney.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Speak Sweetly!

A woman's voice should be soft as an afternoon cloud on a clear summer day and as low as she can keep it without letting it become monotonous! And at the same time, her words must be easily understood, for getting the air out of your lungs slowly ideas over to another person is the real purpose of speaking.

I'm sure that you believe your ideas deserve to be heard. You would not speak if you did not think so. You'll find it's well worth your while to give your thoughts the best possible voice. If you whisper them, nobody can hear them. If you shout them, nobody will want to hear them. Your goal is to state your thoughts in a steady voice that is easy to hear. When you accomplish this, you'll find that your ideas are being received with greater acceptance than ever before.

To regulate the smoothness of your delivery and the volume of your voice, all you need to do is learn to control your breathing. It's the way you breathe that determines the amount of energy your voice has. To prove this, try reading your newspaper aloud until you are out of breath. See how jerky your words become . . . how your voice dwindles to a hoarse whisper?

Now take a deep breath and begin to read aloud again. Pretend that you want someone in the next house to hear you. Let the air out of your lungs slowly and talk on your breath. Measure the length of the sentences you are reading so that when you are running out of air you can refill your lungs between sentences and not in the middle of one.

Practice until you can read a paragraph as long as the one above without taking a new breath. It is an accomplishment that will make you far more pleasant to hear and therefore to know!

For further tips on the secrets of a charming voice, see my popular pamphlet, "YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE." A copy's yours for 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper.

Spying And The Peace Offensive

Encouraging aspect of recent international developments is the revelation that Washington is taking every possible step to guard against surprise attack. The danger of such an attack may be greatest just before or during a "peace" conference.

The Soviet Union has been blazoning its hostility toward the United States for 40 years. Not even "the spirit of Camp David" stopped this flood of invective. Russia continually boasts that her military might is greater than that of the U. S. and proclaims that she is not afraid to use it. "We will bury you," is Khrushchev's personal threat.

Locations of American launching sites and weapons tests are announced to the world, usually in advance. The U. S. needs similar information about Russian military activities to guard against surprise attack. The only way it can be gained is through intelligence activities.

Should these activities be suspended whenever the Russians launch a "peace" offensive? Lenin has written of the strategy of using a peace offensive to induce the target of a projected attack to let down his guard. But Americans don't need Lenin to remind them that the attack on Pearl Harbor was launched while Japanese representatives were in Washington for negotiations.

Americans do not need to be reminded that the Hitler-Stalin pact was secretly concluded while British negotiators were in Moscow trying to negotiate a stop-Hitler agreement.

Or that the surprise attack which started the Korean War followed a Communist peace offensive.

If the armed forces had let down their guard against surprise attack during a Communist peace offensive, and if an attack had come, public indignation against Washington would have dwarfed the outraged outcry which arose after Pearl Harbor.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Vice Presidency

Both parties are going to have more than considerable difficulty selecting a Vice President. Among the Democrats, those who do not favor Senator John Kennedy for President would prefer a Johnson-Kennedy or a Symington-Kennedy ticket depending upon whichever candidate for President is preferred. Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York and Governor Pat Brown of California are candidates for Vice President in the event that Kennedy is not nominated.

The situation regarding the Vice Presidency in the Democratic Party is fluid and no particular person is favored. What happens will depend upon who is nominated for the Presidency; what part of the country he comes from; whether he is a conservative or a liberal and other considerations.

In the Republican Party, there are those who favor Nelson Rockefeller for Vice President on the assumption that he has a sufficient following to be important. There are some Republicans who believe that a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket could win. On the other hand, there are Republicans who feel that Rockefeller is not a Republican, that he cannot really be associated with either party, but operates entirely on his own. They have observed him as Governor of New York State and are not over-enthusiastic.

The conservative Republicans want Senator Barry Goldwater to be chosen as Vice President and will put up a stiff fight for him. His following is growing because he is a man of sincerity. But it is generally held that Goldwater will not be nominated. First of all, he comes from a small state; secondly, he is a Westerner like Nixon; thirdly, he is too far on the Right for Nixon who cannot altogether cut loose from the Eisenhower Administration of which he has been a part.

It would seem that the one man in the Republican Party who fits the cut for Vice President in 1960 is Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Coming from a leading New England family, he is a resident of New York. As Nixon comes from California, Lodge fits the requirement for an Easterner for Vice President.

He has had a long legislative experience, having served in the Massachusetts General Court, as the state legislature there is called. He has served in the United States Senate. He has been a newspaper reporter and has a good military record.

But his principal service to the country has been as the United States Ambassador to the United Nations and on the Security Council where he proved himself to be an excellent debater and diplomat, giving the Russians a hard time when necessary. He has withstood the attacks on the United States courageously and without compromise. His understanding of Russian techniques is better than most.

The Lodge family was brought up on the experience of governing. Henry Cabot Lodge's grandfather had a long and distinguished career in the United States Senate. His brother, John, was Governor of Connecticut and is now our Ambassador to Spain.

An excellent campaigner and a good mixer, Henry Cabot Lodge could be a valuable addition to Nixon's campaign.

Apart from Barry Goldwater and Henry Cabot Lodge, no names are seriously mentioned for the Vice Presidency on the Republican side. There has been some talk of Senator Kenneth Keating of New York, who is a good speaker and humorist, but he is hardly known to the country.

No one ever runs for the Vice Presidency. Many who are candidates for the Presidency hope that they will be able to settle for second place. The Democratic contest is more lively and exciting than the Republican and therefore there are more prospects for the Vice Presidency. In the Republican Party, one of the major difficulties is that few men are willing to give up governorships or seats in the Senate for hanging the gavel in the Senate with a comparatively young President who, according to the averages, is likely to outlive two terms.

On the other hand, several members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet are of Vice Presidential proportions. Fred Seaton, Secretary of the Interior, and James Mitchell, Secretary of Labor, have often been mentioned in this connection. Both are prospects and possibilities, although Mitchell seemed to be in disfavor with Nixon on occasion. Seaton comes from Nebraska, is a newspaper owner and very personable. This then is the line-up for the second place on both tickets. The choice will be picked, as is customary, by the candidate for President.

'Look Out - But Hurry Up, Everybody'

Republicans Will Win Decisively With Nixon

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Analysis of traditional habits in politics and the habits of thought of organization leaders tells far more about who is going to be nominated at a political convention than do polls or primary elections.

Based on just such an analysis, this correspondent wrote on March 7, just before the New Hampshire primary, that Senator Kennedy "is likely to win the Democratic nomination" and that, "if he is blocked, the compromise candidate will be Adlai Stevenson."

On April 7, after the Wisconsin primary, this writer said in these dispatches:

"The Wisconsin primary, by all the rules of politics, should mean that Senator Kennedy will be regarded as the front-runner from now on. This means that the other candidates will tend to combine against him. There are other primary contests, to be sure, but Senator Kennedy will gain ground in all of them, as he has the organization and the finances back of him to win the necessary delegate strength."

What is really meant by "the organization and the finances"? Certainly there is not the slightest basis for any implication that votes are bought. Nor is it to be assumed that the word "organization" means the regular party machinery. In pre-convention campaigns, each candidate develops his own organization and, if he has money enough, he will engage precinct workers everywhere to get voters to the polls, transporting them in autos when necessary. More important still, the organization will know where to find the indifferent voters who can be persuaded by friends to vote for the candidate such friends favor.

These "organization" workers carry sample ballots printed in advance, and in a state like

West Virginia, where there are few precincts with voting machines, it means that the citizen takes the sample ballot into the voting booth and is not bewildered when confronted with a long list of state and local candidates. He is enabled to go right to the spot on the ballot and put his mark down.

This is an old pattern in American politics, and it takes a lot of money to pay for a big organization that really gets out the vote. The total Kennedy vote in West Virginia was about 220,000, which is less than half of the Democratic vote cast for Adlai Stevenson in 1952, when he carried the state against General Eisenhower. It isn't difficult to line up a minority bloc in any state primary if you have the money and the organization.

The Kennedy forces can do it hereafter in every primary, and they will confront the Democratic National Convention with the legitimate query: "Since we have won most of the primaries, how can you turn us down?"

This correspondent believes that the West Virginia primary result not only has helped Senator Kennedy toward the Democratic nomination but actually has helped toward the election of Vice President Nixon, who is certain to be the Republican nominee.

Once the so-called "religious issue" is out of the way—and it now will be so viewed by many politicians because West Virginia has a relatively small number of Catholics in its voting population—the tendency will be to appraise the Massachusetts

LEARNING TO FLY — If you want to learn to fly or put in some flying time inexpensively, get a job with the armed forces anywhere near one of its many bases.

The Air branch of the military services has quietly initiated a new recreation and morale program for Defense Department military and civilian personnel, encouraging flight training and practice.

It provides "excess" aircraft to more than 200 flying clubs it sponsors in the United States and overseas. Members pay an initiation fee of $25 and dues of about $3 a month, entitling them to fly at a rental rate of about half they would pay if they rented from commercial operators.

Some clubs have prospered to the point where they own some of their planes, provide expert instructors and operate on the social as well as the flight level.

Club members must bear the cost of minor damages to planes, but if one is totally wrecked the Air Force picks up the tab.

High military officials feel that beyond the recreational and morale-building value, they'll have an experienced core of flyers to draw on in case of a national emergency.

Take Care Of Your Arteries To Keep Them Open

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Arteries are our life lines, and when one of these vessels becomes blocked, the flow of nutrition to a particular organ is stopped. A heart attack occurs when the coronary artery is obstructed, whereas a stroke takes place if a cerebral vessel is involved.

Treating these disorders is important but is comparable to closing the barn door after the horse escapes. We must prevent or delay the basic cause—hardening of the arteries.

The initial program is aimed at conditions that hasten to contribute to arteriosclerosis. Overweight and high blood pressure are high on the list, explaining why coronary thrombosis and apoplexy are so common in persons with these conditions.

Men with a combination of hypertension and obesity are 3½ times more vulnerable to heart attacks than are persons with neither of these disorders. The lesson to learn is to get weight and blood pressure down—and soon.

An elevated blood cholesterol level makes us more susceptible to arteriosclerosis. There is no doubt that a relationship exists but we are not certain whether the fats in the diet are responsible or whether the cholesterol level is influenced by exercise, stress, glandular disturbances, or disease. At any rate, most physicians suggest reducing the level with diet, vegetable oils, steroids, or certain hormones.

We do not know whether this is the answer to the problem. From the practical point of view, avoid large amounts of animal fat or fried foods. Don't put butter or margarine on vegetables. Fruits are the best type of desserts; this means less ice cream, cake, and pies. A breakfast of skim milk, cereal, fruit, toast, and jam contains less cholesterol than bacon, fried eggs, and buttered toast.

Heavy smoking and inactivity play a role in the cholesterol level. So does heredity. But since we can't select our grandparents we must concentrate on the other factors, particularly when there is a family history of cardiovascular disease.

HORNY GROWTH ON SKIN

K. J. writes: I'm 40 and recently had a growth removed from my nose that the doctor called a senile keratosis. Am I not somewhat young to have a senile growth?

REPLY

Shame on your surgeon: the least he could have done was call it a middle-aged keratosis. There are various forms of keratoses which, by definition, are circumscribed overgrowths of horny and thickened skin. Those that develop in older persons are called senile keratoses and are indistinguishable from the lesions that are seen in younger persons from overexposure to wind and sun.

Russia Has Nullified U.S. Policy Of Encirclement Of Soviet Camp

By Drew Pearson

PARIS — Seldom has a great international conference opened in a more torrid atmosphere of distrust and suspicion than the summit meeting opening today. Seldom however has an international conference been more needed to iron out the misunderstandings and allay the distrust.

Out of the current welter of charges and countercharges, of rocket-rattling and espionage threats, one all-important fact stands out: Russia has nullified the United States policy of containment and is carrying her own containment drive across two oceans to our shores.

This is the most important switch in the position of the world's two greatest powers since Nikita Khrushchev sat down opposite President Eisenhower in Geneva five years ago. At that time our containment policy had Russia solidly hemmed in. Our bases, ranging from Berlin through Greece, Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Thailand to the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and Japan were solid.

Now American influence in those countries not only is slipping but Moscow has reversed our containment policy and is establishing bases and influence near our shores. Here is the scorecard on Russia's reversal of our containment policy:

Base 90 Miles From U. S.

1.—The new Cuban-Soviet alliance plus Fidel Castro's announcement that Cuba would not support the United States in a war with Russia, plus the building of secret diesel oil tanks on the Cuban island of Cayo Largo, all add up to a potential Communist base only 90 miles from our coast.

2.—The agitation for return of the Panama Canal to Panama follows the exact pattern of Egypt's Nasser against the British in Suez. It began after Castro's right-hand man, pro-Communist "Che" Guevara, paid a visit to Cairo.

3.—The constant patrol of Soviet submarines along the Atlantic coast, one even entering Norfolk harbor, constitutes the same kind of "observation" our planes have been giving the Soviets, except for one important difference—the Soviet subs remain chiefly in international waters.

4.—The recent long-range missile test from the Caspian Sea to the Pacific Ocean south of Hawaii is calculated among other things to illustrate how easily Moscow could penetrate a water area generally considered our sphere of influence.

5.—Russian trade deals had a significant impact on even our best friend in Latin America, Brazil. Brazilian papers recently headlined with headlines a paltry 330,000-bag coffee barter while giving no publicity to a 1,500,000-bag purchase by General Foods. Russia is trading wheat and oil for the 330,000 bags while General Foods is paying $60,000,000 cash for five times as much but, symptomatic of what is happening in Latin America, the Russian deal got the headlines in Brazil's paper and General Foods' purchase was blacked out.

Smoldering Resentment

Moscow's vehemence against U. S. containment bases around the Soviet borders has been especially irate since the U-2 spy plane was shot down 1,300 miles inside the Soviet, culminating with Defense Minister Malinovsky's threat to erase all bases from which American observation planes take off. Actually the resentment has been boiling quietly for a long time. In fact, nothing has irked the Kremlin leaders more than the U. S.

But doesn't the voting in the primaries, it will be asked, indicate that Senator Kennedy is popular and a good vote-getter? As against a less colorful and less known candidate, such as Senator Humphrey, it has not been difficult for Senator Kennedy to win the primaries thus far. But the real reason why the Massachusetts Senator upset so many observers who were forecasting the outcome of the West Virginia primaries is that they paid more attention to hit-or-miss polls than to two key factors—"the organization and the finances."

In a national election "the organization and the finances" tend to be balanced as between the parties. As of today, it seems very likely that the nation's voters will have to choose between Kennedy and Nixon next November. This writer believes that—on the basis of, first, satisfactory economic conditions in the major part of the country next autumn, and, second, the argument as to the executive experience that the Republican nominee will offer to the public, and, third, the active support of President Eisenhower—the Republicans will win a decisive victory.

OLD KING COAL

M. L. writes: Is it practicable to have electrolysis for a pair of John L. Lewis eyebrows?

REPLY

Bushy brows never slowed up Mr. Lewis, so why should you be concerned? Electrolysis can be used but it would be easier to trim the bush with scissors.

A STERILE DECADE

R. H. G. writes: Is it possible for a man to father a child who has been sterile for 10 years?

REPLY

Your antecedents confuse me. Sterility in the male is easily determined by microscopic studies. To answer your question, it would be necessary to know whether the test was done by a competent authority.

ORNITHOSIS

L. V. C. writes: What is done for parrot fever?

REPLY

The tetracycline group of antibiotics are effective in this disease.

TEA AND NO SYMPATHY

G. K. writes: Why after drinking tea at work, do I get stomach cramps?

REPLY

The caffeine in tea may increase the acids and churning movement of the stomach. Are you relaxed at teatime or is it an occasion for bickering?

SORE THROATS

L. P. writes: Would removing the appendix prevent the development of frequent sore throats?

REPLY

There is no relationship between these structures. Removing diseased tonsils may lessen the frequency of sore throats.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Persons replies will be made when return stamps are enclosed. Telephone inquiries not answered by Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

We sat in the sun sipping coffee. Her name, she said, was Jane Wood and she was from the Hank Meyer Office in Miami Beach. Miss Wood had black hair and the nervous air of a sportsman who is trying to catch a fish with kisses. She is a press agent and she asked me if I would be interested in writing stories about some of her clients.

It occurred to me, while Miss Wood was talking, that people in the field of public relations have become the most important anonymity in the field of journalism. There was a time, not long ago, when press agents were not permitted inside a newspaper office. Today, the papers have their own press agents and call them Promotion Managers.

Public Relations is now taught as a craft in many universities. Some P.A.'s are so big that they sit on boards of directors. The reason why they are important is that they no longer place the emphasis on getting someone's name in the newspaper, but rather on finding the story and then locating the proper medium for it.

Many of the stories you read from day to day, which are not in the field of spot news (like homicides and accidents), are inspired by P.A.'s. Editors are sharp of eye and pencil and they will use legitimate stories talked up by press agents, but consign the phony suits, the spurious romances, the dizzy stunts, to the wastebasket.

Miss Wood asked if I would be interested in a story about Tommy Tucker, who runs a group of motels. I didn't think so. There was another story about another client—the island of Aruba. I said I might do it in the autumn. A third one was about a man named Adolf Frohn, who teaches poisons to do tricks at the Miami Seaquarium. It lacked depth.

She set my mind to the daily mail, much of which comes from press agents all over the country. It has led to many fine stories for me, and some which smelled up the newspapers that syndicate this column.

Hortense Shor of Columbia Pictures helped me to get a column about Paul Muni shooting a movie on a Brooklyn street. Bob Matell of National Air Lines talked me into a good yarn about a gray-haired pilot in a jet. Eve Siegel brought Hildegard on a gold platter. Mary McCloud opened all the doors of the Waldorf-bases within a stone's throw of their borders which they compare with their having bases in Mexico or Panama.

For a long time the Soviets were helpless to do anything about our containment policy but now, with their increasing missile strength, Moscow has undertaken a carefully calculated policy of undermining these bases. Here are the most important of our containment bases and what's happening to them:

Berlin — This is the most potent symbol of capitalist enterprise and western freedom sticking right into the ribs of the Communist bloc and Khrushchev has warned this conference that he is ready to use force to remove it. Behind Berlin in West Germany is the strongest network of U. S. defense in Europe.

Turkey — It's only one kilometer of no-man's-land between the Turkish and Russian borders, and Turkey is peppered with American bases from which planes fly all along the Russian border. Sometimes over it. The recent student riots against Turkish Premier Menderes got help from Communist agents and weakened the pro-American Turkish government.

Korea — Similar riots against Syngman Rhee sprang from natural political opposition but had some secret Communist support. So far the new government is strongly for the United States but conditions in Korea are fluid.

Pakistan — Has been one of our most important observation bases but Pakistan's Foreign Minister made a timid statement following the shooting of a Russian plane indicating he would prevent such flights in the future.

Japan — Here the Socialists and Communist have long delayed ratification of a 10-year defense treaty giving the United States bases in Japan for 10 years.

That's the score to date in Moscow's drive to throw off encirclement by U. S. bases. What the score will be after Khrushchev intensifies his drive at this conference is a vital question to watch.

Don Cardwell Hurls No-Hitter In Debut With Chicago

Cub Hurler Turns Back Cards, 4-0

Don Misses Perfect Game; St. Louis Cops Opening Game, 6-1

By GENE BLUDEAU

CHICAGO (UPI)—Don Cardwell, who came to the Chicago Cubs in a desperate search for a front line pitcher, hurled a no-hitter Sunday to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-0, in the second game of a doubleheader.

It was the first no-hitter pitched against the Cardinals in 41 years—since Horace Eiler of the Reds achieved one on May 11, 1919. Cardwell's brilliant performance came before a crowd of 33,543 and after the Cardinals had won the opener, 6-1.

Misses Perfect Game
Cardwell, a 6-4 righthander, who came to the Chicago Cubs after three seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies, faced only 28 batters in the one hour, 46-minute game. He missed a perfect game when he issued a first inning walk to Alex Grammas, second batter to face him.

But the cool Cardwell recovered perfect control and set the Cardinals down in order the rest of the way for a sparkling victory in his debut with the Cubs. Cardwell was mobbed by his teammates, and an army of ushers was unable to hold the crowd from storming on to the field to congratulate Cardwell.

The Cardinals hit only seven balls to the outfield. Cardwell struck out seven batters and never had an uneasy moment on the mound.

Cardwell, who came to the Cubs in last Friday's trade along with Ed Bouchee from the Phillies, pitched the first no-hitter in Wrigley Field since Sam Jones turned the trick on May 12, 1955.

First Of Season
It was the first no-hitter of the season in the majors. Harvey Haddix, Pittsburgh Pirates left hander, pitched an unprecedented 12 perfect innings in Milwaukee May 26, but lost the game, 1-0, on a 13th inning hit.

The victory was only the second of the season for Cardwell, who suffered two defeats with the Phils this year. A resident of Winston-Salem, N.C., Cardwell, 25, played three seasons for the Phillies, starting in 1957. Last season his record was 9-10 with an earned run average of 4.06.

Giants Beat Dodgers, 2-0

Cepeda's Two-Run Triple Decides

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Orlando Cepeda's two-run triple broke up a pitching battle in Candlestick Park between San Francisco's Johnny Antonelli and Dodger Johnny Podres and gave the Giants a 2-0 victory over Los Angeles Sunday.

The triumph was the Giants' first over Podres since 1958. The two left-handers duelled on even terms through seven innings with both teams missing scoring opportunities.

But with one out in the eighth, Willie Mays walked and Willie McCovey singled. Cepeda, who had been in a batting slump, crashed his triple deep into center, scoring Mays and Jim Marshall, running for the sore-footed McCovey. It was Cepeda's second extra base hit of the day.

Yankees Defeat Senators, 11-2

WASHINGTON (AP)—Elston Howard blasted a bases-loaded triple Sunday as New York erupted for five runs in the first inning and coasted to an 11-2 victory over Washington behind Art Ditmar's six-hit pitching.

The 11-hit Yankee attack was highlighted by homers by Gil McDougald and Tony Kubek. Early hopes of a Senators comeback were snuffed out by three New York double-plays.

Ditmar lost his bid for a shut-out when Earl Battey rapped his fifth homer for Washington in the seventh. In the ninth, Jim Lemon led off with his eighth home run of the season.

Kuenn Homer Beats Gerry Staley, 6-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Early Wynn shut out the Cleveland Indians for the first time this season on a five hitter Sunday as the Indians and the Chicago White Sox split a doubleheader.

The White Sox won the first 4-0. The Indians came from behind in the second, tied the game in the ninth inning and won 6-3 in the 10th on a home run by Harvey Kuenn, his first of the season.

Kuenn's blast over the center-field fence, scoring Johnny Temple and Jimmy Piersall ahead of him, cost Chicago reliever Gerry Staley his first defeat of the season.

In the first game, Chicago got its first run in the fourth. Ted Kluszewski, who had singled, scored on a double by Sherm Lollar and a sacrifice fly by Al Smith.

Julius Boros Wins Colonial Golf Tourney

Scores One Stroke Victory Over Nagle

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Julius (The Moose) Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., rammed home a 20-foot pressure putt for a birdie on the 17th green Sunday to wring out a one-stroke victory in the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament with a 72-hole even par total of 280.

He finished one stroke ahead of Australian Kel Nagle and little Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., who wound up with identical 281s to split $5,000 — Boros take home pay—between them for second and third place.

Nagle came within a loud sigh of tying Boros on the final green and forcing a title playoff when his 45-foot putt hit the pin and bounced off a foot away.

Nagle had matched Boros' birdie on the 17th after Littler had finished in the threesome ahead with a final round 38-34-72. Boros shot a 36-34-70 Sunday, while Nagle—who had started the final round tied with Littler and one stroke ahead of Boros at 209—shot a 37-35-72.

The 40-year-old Hungarian thus will carry home a $9,000 nest egg for his past two week's work when he flies to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to see his two-weeks old son, Gary Stewart, for the first time.

Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., also made a run for the first money and pulled to within a stroke once or twice, but wound up with a 35-34-69 and a 282 total worth $1,700 for fourth place.

Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, and Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif., who celebrated his 29th birthday Sunday with a sub-par 34-35-69, tied for fifth place at 284 and divided $4,200 equally between them.

Sports Car Traffic Plan Works Well

Entire Police Dept. Pressed Into Service

The entire Police Department of Cumberland was joined by auxiliary police yesterday and Saturday to move the heavy traffic during the windup of the Sports Carnival.

Chief B. Frank Gaffney said the police did "very well" and didn't miss a trick in keeping the traffic on the move.

He pointed out there were no major tie-ups after the sports car races held yesterday afternoon at the Municipal Airport.

Chief Gaffney said the busy intersection at Central YMCA got a real test yesterday and Saturday.

Several police were stationed at that end of Baltimore Street and kept the flow of traffic on the go.

Police were located all over town at strategic intersections, especially in South Cumberland along the route to and from the airport in Wiley Ford.

Off-duty police reported for work at 6 p. m. Saturday and had the traffic situation in hand by 9:30 or 10 p. m. Yesterday the off-duty policemen reported for work about 3 p. m., and finished at 7:20 p. m.

In view of the heavy traffic during weekends of Sports Car Races and previous traffic jams, city officials last week mapped plans to cope with the anticipated problem.

Towson Alumni Oppose College Branch Plans

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—The alumni association of Towson State Teachers College has passed a resolution opposing a proposal to make the college a branch of the University of Maryland.

The resolution, approved with little discussion Saturday by more than 100 alumni who attended an annual meeting, said the "proposed merger would not be in the best interests of the education of youth in the state of Maryland."

An executive study commission has proposed the annexation by the University of Maryland of the teachers colleges at Towson, Salisbury and Frostburg.

Men Of St. John's Plan Session

The Men of St. John's will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the social hall of St. John's Lutheran Church, according to J. Millard Hughes, president.

Deviations will be led by Raymond Hahne. This will be followed by an important business meeting. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

He Couldn't Care Less

Excited fans in background point out action on the Municipal Airport sports car race track during the fifth race yesterday, but the fellow in the foreground found the warm sun and the balmy breezes more tempting than the excitement below. He's unidentified—the News photographer couldn't bring himself to wake the sleeper and learn his name.

SRC To Begin New Highways Construction

BALTIMORE (AP)—An estimated 72 million dollars worth of interstate and primary highway projects will be advertised for bids by the State Roads Commission during the coming fiscal year.

Commission Chairman John B. Funk announced the plans during the weekend. It is the first phase in an accelerated five-year program approved by the 1960 General Assembly.

The commission warned that unless funds were diverted from the earlier scheduled 12-year program, the state would have exhausted its funds in 1965 with only a piecemeal arterial system completed.

The tentative program for the fiscal year beginning July 1 includes about 61 miles on Maryland's primary system and about 17 miles on the interstate system.

Interstate mileage includes about 15 miles on the Baltimore Beltway, the Carderock interchange on the Capitol Beltway, and Capitol Beltway projects at Maryland routes 5 and 430.

Funk said the commission also is studying the programming of secondary highway projects involving about 8 million dollars.

Primary road projects include: Dual bridges carrying U.S. 340 over Catoctin Creek in Frederick County.

Reconstruction of 1½ miles of U. S. 40 from Willowbrook Road to west of Naves Road, Allegany County.

Dual highway 2.2 miles from Sideling Hill relocation to Town Hill relocation, Allegany County. Dual highway 3.7 miles from 15-mile Creek to top of Polish Mountain, Allegany County.

Relocation and reconstruction of 1.7 miles of U. S. 219 from Hoves toward McHenry, Garrett County.

Injured In Fall

John Dean, 74, Springfield, W. Va., was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night with a fractured left leg he sustained in a fall at his home.

County-Wide Art Exhibit Planned Friday, Saturday

Allegany County public school children from the first through the 12th grades will participate in an art exhibit in the Allegany High School gymnasium Friday and Saturday, according to Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in the Allegany County public schools.

"Creative Adventures In Art" is the theme of the exhibition.

The exhibit will consist of over 1,000 pieces of work by children from all 12 grades. They represent samplings taken from every school in the county to indicate the general scope and character of the art activities carried on in the classrooms.

The exhibits will include drawings, paintings, charts, murals, papier mache, plaster, block printing, ceramics, jewelry, weaving, model building and etching. Mr. Foote says. It will be open from 7 until 9 p. m. Friday and from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. Saturday.

Posters announcing the exhibition were designed and silk-screen printed at Valley High School by students of Charles Gillis.

The exhibit committee consists of Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce and Gerald E. Martin, both of Allegany; Mrs. Cecile Erickson and Thomas Murphy, both Fort Hill; Mr. Gillis of Valley; Mrs. Lucille Cinquegrani, Beall High School; Mrs. Louise Sauder, Beall Elementary; Edwin H. Gillis, Mt. Savage; Francis J. Roberts, Bruce High School, and James C. Skidmore, Oldtown.

Demonstrations by students from Allegany, Beall High and Bruce High will be given in several techniques during the exhibition.

Bedford Street Area Will Be Landscaped

A small city park area between high and low Bedford Street will be landscaped for the City Street Department, according to Commissioner John J. Long.

The work will be done under a contract awarded to Smith's Gardens here.

Services Set For Man Hit By Automobile

Services for Richard Carl Biser, 39½ F Street, Keyser, W. Va., who was fatally injured when he was struck by an auto Saturday, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Keyser Church of the Brethren.

Rev. C. H. Cameron and Rev. Owen G. Stultz will officiate and burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

Mr. Biser had been fishing in Patterson Creek and hopped over a fence into the path of an oncoming car on Route 50 in Burlington.

The mishap occurred about 2:30 p. m. and Mr. Biser died at 9:30 p. m. in the hospital of multiple injuries.

The car knocked the victim about 60 feet down the highway. State Police at Keyser stated that no charges have been made against Constable.

Born in Short Gap, Mr. Biser was a son of Mrs. Grace (Lyons) Biser and the late Ira Biser and had resided in Keyser for four years.

He was employed as a pipe-fitter helper at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company Luke mill.

He was also a member of the Sunnyside Church of the Brethren and was a veteran of the Korean war.

Primary Is Scheduled Tomorrow

Polls Open From 7 A.M. To 7 P.M.

When Allegany counties step up to the voting machines tomorrow, Maryland's primary election day, they will be confronted only with candidates for two offices, President of the United States and the 87th Congress.

The 45 polling places scattered throughout Cumberland and other communities of the county will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m.

It appears that weather conditions may be favorable for eligible voters to get out and choose the candidates of their choice.

Democrats will vote for one of the following candidates for President:

Lar Daly of Chicago, Andrew J. Easter of Baltimore, Senator John F. Kennedy of Boston, Mass., and Senator Wayne Morse, Eugene, Ore.; or for an unopposed delegation to the national convention.

Congressional Contest

Democrats of the county will also select a man who, in the general election in November, will represent that party as candidate for Representative from the Sixth District of Maryland. They are Rep. John R. Foley of Montgomery County, who is seeking re-election, and his opponent, Claude A. Taylor, also of Montgomery County.

Republicans will vote for one of three candidates for Congressman from the Sixth District. They are James A. Buchanan IV, Montgomery County; R. Byng Duvall, Montgomery County, and Charles McMathias Jr., Frederick County. There is no Republican Presidential primary.

John R. Kelly, chief clerk of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, said last night that everything is in readiness for the primary election.

The office at the Court House will be open from 6:30 a. m. tomorrow until the last returns are in tomorrow night.

He pointed out that there are 35,658 eligible voters in the county, including 20,205 Republicans and 15,453 Democrats.

Some 100 voting machines have been distributed to the various polling places in the 48 precincts of the county. The election will be under the direct supervision of 212 chief judges and 400 machine judges who have been provided with necessary election supplies.

BERT A. MASON JR.

Allegany County Squires Elected To State Offices

Bert A. Mason Jr., LaVale, Saturday afternoon was elected chief squire of the newly-formed Maryland State Circle, Columbian Squires during an organizational meeting and election in Baltimore.

Columbian Squires is a youth activities program of the Knights of Columbus.

Another Allegany County resident was elected to a state office. He is Edward Bahen, of Frostburg, who was elected state notary.

Both youths are freshmen at LaSalle High School. J. Gamache of the Silver Spring Circle was elected deputy chief squire; R. Gaigler, Patapsco Circle, Baltimore, burser; and M. Klein, Notre Dame Circle, Baltimore, marshal.

By a 7-3 vote the Squires decided that the initial state convention of the organization will be held in Frostburg this summer with Father Bradley Circle 1218 as host.

Young Mason, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert A. Mason Sr., is notary of Bishop Walsh Circle 1222 of Cumberland. He is a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church and graduated from the parish school.

At LaSalle he is an honor student and is active in bowling, tennis and chess. He is planning to enter college upon graduation.

Young Bahen who is marshal of the Frostburg Circle, is a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church and graduated from the parish school. He is a member of the junior varsity basketball team at LaSalle and plays baseball.

This past basketball season he was a member of the St. Michael's team which won the championship in the church league. He too plans to go to college. Both youths are 14.

Aside from the Cumberland and Frostburg circles there is the Cardinal Mooney Circle 1225 at Mt. Savage. All three circles were formed last year.

John O'Donnell, 134 Hanover Street, is chief counselor of the local circle. William Colgan, Frostburg; and Gregory King, Mt. Savage.

The Columbian Squires program is four-fold: spiritual, civic-cultural, physical and social. The aim of the organization is to develop initiative and leadership.

The purpose of the state circle is to promote and develop the Columbian Squires program, to establish new circles and increase membership, to encourage cooperation and fellowship, friendly rivalry and competition among circles and members, and to unite more closely all circles and members for the mutual welfare and advancement of youth.

Attending the meeting in Baltimore were Joseph Frate, Maryland state chairman of activities of the K. of C., who was in charge of the meeting, and Charles F. Dacey, program consultant of the K. of C. Supreme Council's Columbian Squires Division.

Firemen Are Called To The Cotton Shop

The 85-foot aerial ladder and pumper from Central fire station were sent to The Cotton Shop, 109 Baltimore Street, after smoke was noticed seeping from the front of the three-story brick building last night.

The firemen, who received a call about 10:20 p. m., broke away part of a sign in front of the store and trained water between the building and the neon sign. Later they forced the front door of the business establishment and attempted to locate the source of the smoke.

Nice Day For The Races

These shorts-clad young people are seen huddling in conversation during the National Championship Sports Car Races yesterday at Municipal Airport. After a solid week of cool, rainy weather which threatened to spoil the races, yesterday dawned bright and sunny, and summery apparel was seen everywhere.

Summit Gloom Deepens

4½-Ton Soviet 'Space Ship' In Orbit

Eve Of Talks Finds Khrush In 'Bad Mood'

Super Rocket Hurls Biggest Satellite Aloft

Vehicle, Carrying Dummy Astronaut, Sends Back Signals

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's 4½-ton space ship, carrying a dummy astronaut and "the necessary equipment for future manned space flight," was reported cruising obediently along its chartered course around the earth Sunday.

Radio Moscow said the ship, hurled aloft by a "super-rocket," is sending back signals confirming "the good agreement between its actual orbit and the calculated one."

The feat—representing the biggest satellite ever hurled into space by man — was obviously timed to give Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a boost for Monday's summit meeting in Paris.

Who's Ahead Speculation Is Rekindled

Hagen Thinks U.S. Leads In Solving Re-Entry Problem

By The Associated Press

The Soviet launching of a 4½-ton space ship carrying a dummy astronaut brought general scientific acclaim Sunday and some predictions that manned space flight is imminent.

There were differing views on the relative positions of the United States and the Soviet Union in the race to put a man in space.

The Soviets said the launching "once again demonstrates the Soviet Union's lead in space explorations."

Dr. John P. Hagen of the U. S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said, however, the use of a "dummy spaceman" may mean the Soviets are behind the United States in their space program.

Hagen, onetime director of the U. S. Vanguard program, said the space ship announcement indicates the Soviets "have not faced up to the most serious problem—how to solve the re-entry problem and recover a man safely from orbit."

"We think that we (American scientists) understand how to do this and to do it well. It's not clear that the Russians do."

Radio Moscow flooded the airwaves with forecasts that the Soviet Union will put the first man into space.

Many of the experts quoted in the Moscow broadcasts, noted, however, that Soviet scientists still have to master the problem of getting an astronaut safely back to earth.

Moscow quoted Dr. L. I. Sedov, president of the International Astronautical Federation, as saying "It is now clear to everybody that we have the apparatus in which man can set off to outer space."

"But before such a flight can be made, much experimental work still must be carried out. The problem of safe return to earth has not yet been solved," Sedov added.

A prominent German rocket expert, Dr. Hermann Oberth, said the latest Soviet space venture "leads one to conclude that a manned flight into space is imminent."

Oberth, who worked on the development of Nazi Germany's V-2 rocket and until two years ago for the U. S. Army, called the launch "a very good achievement."

At the same time, Oberth predicted the United States soon will be able to match Soviet space feats.

"In fact," he added, "it is entirely possible that Americans will launch a manned space ship in Florida this fall."

Eisenhower is prepared to meet Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on the sidelines of the summit conference to discuss the major obstacles in the Big Three test ban talks under way for 18 months at Geneva.

If these were resolved here, the Geneva negotiators could complete the treaty draft within a few weeks. A test ban might be ready for ratification by fall.

Eisenhower's decision will be determined by Khrushchev's attitude toward putting teeth into the draft treaty's complex system to prevent violations.

The other is that he would remain in or near Washington when President Eisenhower is overseas. The President may be in the Soviet Union at the time.

It is known, however, that Eisenhower has approved in advance any brief trips outside Washington for Nixon, who appears assured of the GOP nomination.

The Christian Democrats retained their majority in Baden-Wuerttemberg, West Germany's third largest state, but the Socialists were the only party to emerge from the poll with added strength.

Only a little more than three million of the five million eligible voters cast ballots.

Final unofficial returns gave the Christian Democrats 39.4 per cent of the popular vote and the Socialists 35.5 per cent. In the last state elections, it was 42.6 and 28.9 respectively.

Berlin, Monday (UPI) — Twelve persons were killed and 60 injured when two crowded passenger trains collided head on near Leipzig in East Germany Saturday night, the Communist East German news agency ADN reported Sunday.

The agency said the collision occurred just outside of Leipzig's main railroad station.

Woman Crash-Lands Plane

Spencer Black, 50, a Dallas oilman, was dead on arrival at a hospital after his four-place light plane crashed just off the main runway at a Dallas airport. Mrs. Black, 39, was critically injured in the crash after she attempted to land the plane when her husband suffered an apparent heart attack while in flight. (Story at bottom of page)

Atom Test Ban With Calculated Risk Possible

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower may strike a bargain with Premier Nikita Khrushchev this week for a nuclear test ban treaty with a built-in calculated risk.

The President's decision could be one of the most momentous of his career.

It may halt the development of new or improved nuclear weapons in Western arsenals. And—in view of many Western scientists—it may leave the Soviet Union to continue its own nuclear weapons program in secret in the depths of the earth.

At the same time, the treaty would bring three advantages:

1. It would remove the health hazard of radioactive fallout from nuclear tests above ground.

2. It would install an unprecedented system of international control posts and mobile inspectors, however, restricted, in the Soviet Union.

3. It would set a precedent for East-West agreement on other and more far-reaching measures of disarmament.

Eisenhower is prepared to meet Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on the sidelines of the summit conference to discuss the major obstacles in the Big Three test ban talks under way for 18 months at Geneva.

If these were resolved here, the Geneva negotiators could complete the treaty draft within a few weeks. A test ban might be ready for ratification by fall.

Red 'Space Ship' Visible In U.S.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory Sunday reported the Soviet "space ship" will be visible to the naked eye in many U.S. cities Monday morning.

Smithsonian scientists said the satellite will be as bright as the brightest star and will be in view for three to four minutes, as follows (all times local time):

To the southeast of Florida at 3:52 a. m., New York City 3:55 a. m. and Newfoundland 3:57 a. m.; almost directly overhead of Houston, Tex., 4:23 a. m., St. Louis 4:26 a. m., Chicago 4:26:30 a. m., So. Nixon May Aid Davis In N.D.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon may step up his own presidential campaign by jumping into the North Dakota Senate race in behalf of Republican Gov. John E. Davis, informed sources said Sunday.

Nixon has an invitation to speak at the North Dakota American Legion Convention at Williston on June 20.

If he accepts it could be an exception to two personal guidelines he has established.

The first is that he would wait until formally nominated as the Republican presidential candidate at Chicago the week of July 25 before starting widespread campaign efforts.

The other is that he would remain in or near Washington when President Eisenhower is overseas. The President may be in the Soviet Union at the time.

It is known, however, that Eisenhower has approved in advance any brief trips outside Washington for Nixon, who appears assured of the GOP nomination.

The Christian Democrats retained their majority in Baden-Wuerttemberg, West Germany's third largest state, but the Socialists were the only party to emerge from the poll with added strength.

Only a little more than three million of the five million eligible voters cast ballots.

Final unofficial returns gave the Christian Democrats 39.4 per cent of the popular vote and the Socialists 35.5 per cent. In the last state elections, it was 42.6 and 28.9 respectively.

Berlin, Monday (UPI) — Twelve persons were killed and 60 injured when two crowded passenger trains collided head on near Leipzig in East Germany Saturday night, the Communist East German news agency ADN reported Sunday.

The agency said the collision occurred just outside of Leipzig's main railroad station.

Clash Follows Turk Leader's Election Pledge

IZMIR, Turkey (AP)—Supporters of Turkey's two rival political parties staged a free-for-all in the streets of Izmir Sunday just after Prime Minister Adnan Menderes promised a national election if the nation stays calm.

The street fighting started when some 4,000 youths showed up outside headquarters of the opposition People's Republican party shouting "Freedom, freedom," and "Menderes resign." An equal number of Menderes' supporters moved in and a lively clash resulted.

Troops and police charged into the mob, and dispersed it in 50 minutes. But tension in the city continued to run high.

Menderes reached Izmir shortly after noon on a tour of Aegean provinces. The 61-year-old Premier, who has been in power 10 years, wants to test local sentiment about his strict policies curbing the opposition party.

He was dining at a restaurant some distance away when the shouting and slugging match broke out.

His conditional promise of new elections, made in an arrival speech, was his first public mention of voting since student anti-government riots broke out in Istanbul and Ankara April 28 and 29.

"We are determined to do away with these disturbances, and solve the problem at its roots with the people's will. Elections are the democratic way, the free way, the only way," he said.

Menderes did not specify an election date but he is bound by the Turkish constitution to call one by the spring of 1961.

The stage-setting talks included, besides the Khrushchev-De Gaulle and Khrushchev-Macmillan meetings, a session of the three Western chiefs of government with Adenauer to discuss the subjects of divided Germany and threatened West Berlin. The four announced full agreement on these subjects in readiness for the summit.

After Adenauer departed for Bonn, the Big Three chiefs met again, this time taking up the subjects of disarmament and East-West relations.

None of the four leaders' spokesmen divulged much of what went on.

To reporters' questions, Hagerly responded, in effect, "You'll have to wait until tomorrow and see."

Eisenhower, on his arrival by jet, expressed hope the conference can achieve a beginning toward (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Remains Of 6th Flier Found In Desert

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Two British petroleum men report they have found the remains of another member of an American "ghost" bomber crew which bailed out over the North African desert after a combat mission in World War II.

The B24 "Lady Be Good" landed on the desert after a bombing raid on Naples, Italy, April 4, 1943. Its radio was still intact and water jugs were still filled when found last year. Air Force officials then said the nine-man crew probably would have survived if they had stayed aboard or found the plane after bailing out.

Last February, British petroleum men found the bodies of five crewmen.

Nixon Sees Election Fight With Kennedy On Economic Issues

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — In an off-the-record talk to 100 industrialists, Vice President Richard M. Nixon has predicted the presidential campaign will be fought out by himself and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) on the issue of federal intervention in economy.

According to some of those present, Nixon said Kennedy would enter the Democratic convention in July "pretty much under the control of the labor bosses" and would be "pushed to the left of his party" by campaign pressures.

The speech, followed by question and answer sessions, was delivered Friday night to the Business Advisory Council of the Commerce Department under the group's rules — no reporters admitted. Newsmen obtained rather detailed accounts subsequently from some of those who attended.

The group, made up of the heads of scores of the country's biggest corporations, has been holding its spring meeting here with Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller.

Its members gave Nixon, who is expected to receive the Republican presidential nomination in July, an ovation.

Nixon made a strong and "very frank" defense of the espionage use of the U2 reconnaissance plane shot down over the Soviet Union members said, while admitting that the capture of plane and pilot came at an embarrassing time.

Nixon was quoted as saying that such flights over four years had provided essential information including hundreds of thousands of pictures which could be obtained in no other way.

The vice president held it was the responsibility of the President to take every measure necessary to protect the country, and disagreed with critics of the timing of the ill-fated flight just before the summit conference.

The timing is always wrong when you are caught, Nixon said.

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Louis E. Caster, an executive with wide-ranging interests in the bakery, television, banking and health insurance fields, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 63.

He headed bakery companies in Rockford, Aurora, Joliet and Peoria, Ill., and was board member of the Campbell-Taggart Associated Bakers, Dallas, Tex.

His message to the gathering here, Pope John obviously was thinking of the Paris meeting, although he made no direct mention of it.

The head of the Roman Catholic Church said he prayed to God "to put into the heart of all men a thirst for a true peace which He alone can give: peace in souls, peace in families, peace in society, peace between nations with justice."

U. Of Md. Coed Found Dead In Shower Stall

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Joanna Bray, 19-year-old sophomore from Bethesda, Md., was found dead Sunday in a University of Maryland dormitory shower stall.

A university spokesman said the victim's body had stopped up the drain and her head was face down in several inches of water.

Miss Bray was pronounced dead at Dorchester Hall by Dr. Norman H. Rubenstein, of the university's health service staff.

After an autopsy Sunday night, it was ruled an accidental death by drowning, following a concussion.

12 Die In Collision Of E. German Trains

Berlin, Monday (UPI) — Twelve persons were killed and 60 injured when two crowded passenger trains collided head on near Leipzig in East Germany Saturday night, the Communist East German news agency ADN reported Sunday.

The agency said the collision occurred just outside of Leipzig's main railroad station.

Wife Crash-Lands Plane After Husband Stricken

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A terrified woman, desperately trying to fly an airplane with the inert body of her stricken husband still at the controls brought the light craft in to a shattering crash landing at Love Field Saturday night.

Mrs. Spencer F. Black, 39, who never had flown a plane, survived with severe injuries. Her 50-year-old oilman husband apparently died of a heart attack at the plane's controls.

Reaching over his body to grasp the wheel, she had wobbled the plane over north Dallas while shouting "SOS" into the radio. Personnel at the control tower of the Municipal Airport tried desperately to direct her to a landing.

Mrs. Black, who suffered a broken arm and facial lacerations, gave this account from a hospital bed:

They were flying from Fort Worth, 30 miles to the west, to their Dallas home in the single-engine, 1955 Beechcraft Bonanza.

"He started gasping and threw back his head. His mouth fell open and he started breathing hard and slumped down in the seat. I couldn't feel any pulse."

"I was terribly frightened. Personally, I don't know how to fly those planes."

"I flew around for about a half a tank full (of fuel)—however long that is—and then decided to just try and set it down without a crash."

"I was trying to fly the plane from across his body."

The plane hit off a runway at a steep angle and bounced 24 to 40 feet. It struck again about 300 feet from the first impact.

Humphrey withdrew from the contest for a top place on the ticket after he was upset by Kennedy in last Tuesday's West Virginia primary.

Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut; Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas; and Adlai E. Stevenson were asked to contribute articles, but declined.

Here are brief excerpts from the seven articles:

Six, Including Fireman, Die In Md. Accidents

Six persons met accidental death in Maryland during the weekend, including a volunteer fireman fighting a Bladensburg house fire intentionally set during a training drill.

Gerard Augustus Britton, 27, of East Riverdale, Md., a probationary volunteer at the Riverdale Heights Fire Department, was pronounced dead on arrival at Prince Georges General Hospital Saturday.

Death was attributed to smoke inhalation as they tried to rescue Britton from a second floor bedroom of the two-story frame house. All reportedly wore gas masks but the smoke was more dense than anticipated.

County Fire Marshal Lawrence R. Woltz said he would check material left in the house and the condition of the gas masks.

One man was killed and three were injured Sunday when a car in which he was riding smashed into the concrete siding of the Conowingo Dam Bridge. The car was northbound on U. S. 1.

State Police identified the dead man as George A. Fogus, 40, of Conowingo. The driver of the car, Roy Sisk, also of Conowingo, did not require hospitalization.

One of two drowning victims was 1-year-old Mark Anthony Smith of Sharpburg, who wandered away Saturday as his father was working in the yard.

The father found his son lying face down in a drainage ditch containing less than a foot of water.

Other weekend victims included Christine Smith, 9, of suburban Hagerstown, struck by a car as she ran across a street outside her home. She died of internal injuries and multiple fractures in Washington County Hospital soon after the accident Saturday.

Catherine A. Montgomery, 3, of Bay Ridge, Anne Arundel County, drowned Friday night in Chesapeake Bay.

Thurman Covington, 35, Negro, of Baltimore, thrown from a car during a police chase Saturday and run over by a State Police car.

Unmanned Jet Surveillance Drone Tested

YUMA TEST STATION, Ariz. (AP) — The Army has launched and flown for the first time an unmanned, jet surveillance drone.

Flown by remote control, the high-performance USDs skimmed over the electronics proving ground range Saturday until directed to parachute to earth.

Designed for greater speed and endurance than propeller-driven drones, the USDs carried electronic surveillance equipment to provide Army commanders with continuous information on enemy movements.

The turbojet craft was designed and built by Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp., Hagerstown, Md. On its initial flight, officers said, the USDs provided useful data transmitted through the range instrumentation system.

Butler Believes Khrush On Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, not President Eisenhower, must make concessions at the summit meeting which opens in Paris Monday, Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) said Sunday.

Butler said Khrushchev cannot afford an open breach between East and West.

Increased tensions, he added, would only alienate the Russian people who are anxious to hold onto the small comforts they have accumulated after 40 years of sacrifice.

Butler said the shooting down of an American airplane over Russia — an incident overshadowing the summit conference — symbolizes U. S. ability to best the Communists in spying.

It also proved conclusively, Butler added in a statement, the ineptness and inability of Soviet air defenses.

Morse Assails Veto Of Needed Bills By GOP

ACCOCHEE, Md. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said Sunday President Eisenhower's veto last week of a depressed areas bill shows Republican lack of concern with pockets of chronic unemployment.

And Morse, entered in Tuesday's presidential preferential primary election against Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), said use of the veto to block needed legislation will defeat the GOP in November.

This is the second time, Morse said, that President Eisenhower vetoed a depressed areas bill. Not only does it indicate Republicans' lack of concern with pockets of chronic unemployment but it also exemplifies the GOP attitude toward the entire question of full employment and economic growth, Morse added.

A veto has also been threatened, Morse said in a speech to the Democratic Club of Accokeek, on a bill to provide medical insurance for social security recipients.

"As in the case of depressed areas," Morse said, "the administration gives lip service to the need to do something about health care of the aged, but it objects to specific programs that are really effective."

Morse said Kennedy showed a lack of interest in such legislation by failing to participate in Senate debate on a bill Morse introduced in 1958.

Einstein Girl Faces Student Riot Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A granddaughter of the late Albert Einstein was one of the students arrested Friday in a protest riot against a City Hall hearing of a House subcommittee on Un-American Activities.

Evelyn Einstein, 19, charged with disturbing the peace, rioting, and resisting arrest, is under order to appear in Municipal Court Monday morning. She is free on $210 bail.

"Spy" Must Be Punished, Soviet Legal Experts Say

MOSCOW (AP) — Two of the Soviet Union's top legal authorities declared Sunday Francis G. Powers must be "strictly punished as the gravest criminal, spy and war provocateur."

The guilt of the 30-year-old American U2 pilot is not arguable, said an Izvestia article written by P. S. Romashkin, head of the legal institute of the Academy of Sciences, and S. A. Golunsky.

"The court sentence will serve as a serious warning to all big and small war provocateurs," they said.

The minimum for crimes attributed to Powers under Soviet law for his ill-fated May Day spy flight is eight years imprisonment. The maximum is death. The two jurists did not spell out what they meant, but the language they used appeared to mean they favored the death sentence.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A New York churchman said Sunday Christians behind the Iron Curtain were shocked by the Soviet verdict.

Verwoerd Leaves Pretoria Hospital

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd, shot twice by an assassin April 9, was released from Pretoria General Hospital Saturday night. His return home was kept secret until Sunday. There was no immediate indication when he would get back to his official desk.

Two bullets were removed from his head in an operation a week ago and he has one more operation to face—for plastic surgery on his right ear. An official announcement said: "Dr. Verwoerd's general health is excellent."

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been reading your column for a long time and I enjoy it a lot but I'm sure you must make up the letters. Nobody can be so dumb as to get into the jams that I read about in your column.

I'm not complaining, mind you, it's good entertainment. Your column alone is worth the price of this newspaper but I just had to let you know I'm reading you regularly, with tongue in cheek.

DEAR X-RAY: Thanks for the vote of no-confidence. It bothers me not that you think I invent the letters. You aren't the only one.

What did you think about the woman who sued her husband for divorce because he insisted that she pay him (out of her household budget) union-scale wages for emptying the garbage and doing other odd jobs around the house? If you recall, he was an $18,000 a year vice president of a bank.

And how about the man who divorced his wife because she insisted he wear a chauffeur's uniform and wait outside when she went visiting or shopping?

Good entertainment? Well, these incidents aren't from my column, Buster; they're recent news stories.

Human nature being what it is, it would be a waste of time to fabricate letters. Manufactured situations would be pale indeed, compared to what people are REALLY up to.

DEAR ANN: I've been married to a wonderful woman for 10 years. Her mother is dying of cancer. My wife is a registered nurse and decided to take a leave of absence from the hospital and care for her mother. We have no children and I agreed to manage alone for as long as was necessary.

She's been back home twice in the past three months. I've been out there three times. I hate being alone.

I've written my wife several bitter letters. A guy can get pretty fed up eating out and lugging his clothes to a laundry. I know she's not having a good time out there but I'm alone no matter how you look at it. I always feel a lot better after I put my thoughts down on paper. I figure I'm entitled to blow my top and she should be able to take it. Am I right?—B.D.

DEAR DUKE: By all means continue to write the bitter letters and the meaner the better. Get all the anger out of your system. Then mail the letters to me.

DEAR ANN: A woman I know is engaged to marry a dentist.

She introduces him around to everyone as DOCTOR So and So, which is an obvious attempt to give the false impression that he is a medical doctor.

I think she should introduce him as "Throckmorton Swineburn" (not his real name) and then say "He's a dentist." Am I right?—A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A dentist is a doctor of dentistry and has earned the professional title. It is perfectly proper to introduce him as Dr. Throckmorton Swineburn, which I am happy is not his real name.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TOMMY'S MOM: Don't deceive yourself. Tommy has pegged you as the "softest parent." Thrash out the problems with your husband privately, then present a united front. Children learn early how to play off one parent against the other.

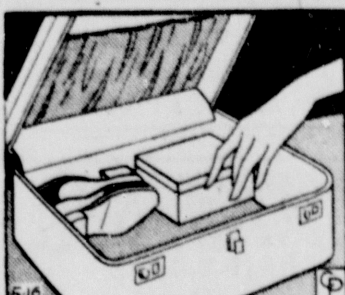

CONFIDENTIAL TO BLACK AND BLUE: Tell him to practice the judo holds on his male friends. I don't blame your father for getting burned up.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
A 6 4 2 ♥ J 7 5 ♦ 6 ♣ K Q J 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid?

A—Four hearts. Your hand has a great deal too much strength for a single raise. You should have no concern over the texture of your trump support for an overall at the two level should be based on a robust suit.

Q. 2—As South you hold (with 80 part score):
A 8 3 2 ♥ Q 10 8 ♦ K 8 ♣ A K 9 7
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid?

A—Two hearts. This is to protect the situation where partner has a very strong hand which may be suitable for slam. If he has a mediocre hand two hearts will be safe. A response of two clubs would be improper. In view of the score partner might pass with some doubtful club holding.

Q. 3—Partner opens with one heart and you hold:
A 6 3 ♥ K 9 7 4 ♦ A Q J 7 3 ♣ J
What is your response?

A—Either of two bids is acceptable, the jump to three hearts or the temporary bid of two diamonds. In cases like this, preference should probably be given to the suit take-out because it is such a good suit that it may provide discards and lay the basis for big things if partner happens to have a strong opening bid. Where the suit is not one which is readily established for discards, the direct raise is to be preferred.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
A K J 9 6 5 ♥ Q 7 2 ♦ Q 10 3 ♣ 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♦ ?
What do you bid?

A—Pass. This hand does not possess the strength to justify a free bid. True it counts nine points, but two of the points, as represented by the queen of diamonds, the adversely bid suit, should not be regarded quite so highly. If partner fails to act on his own power nothing will have been lost.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
A K 4 ♥ 6 ♦ A K J 10 2 ♣ A J 10 4 3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ ?
What do you bid now?

A—Four no trump. Obviously a Blackwood bid. Partner's bid at the level of three indicates a strong hand so that you should be confident of its solidity. If he shows two aces you should contract for seven clubs. If he shows only one, bid six, which at worst will depend on the spade situation.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
A K Q 8 ♥ A K 8 4 ♦ K 9 7 ♣ K 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 NT Pass 3 ♣ ?
What do you bid?

A—Your action should be based on considerations of arithmetic. Partner, by making a jump shift and then a direct leap to six no trump has indicated a (Copyright 1960, The Chicago Tribune) hand worth 19 or 20 points. You have 18, which gives you a total of 37 points, enough for a grand slam. Remember that a jump to three of a suit followed by six no trump is a little stronger than just a jump to six no trump.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
A 7 3 2 ♥ K 9 5 ♦ A 6 10 7 6 4
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 NT 2 ♥ ?
What do you bid?

A—Against your hand should produce three tricks. The no trump opener should produce four. A two trick penalty is in sight. Double.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
A K 7 4 ♥ A K 5 ♦ K 6 4 2 ♣ A 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♦ 1 ♥ ?
What do you bid?

A—Though this hand has enormous high card power, it possesses the infirmity of the 4-3-3-3 distribution. Note that it is not worth the 19 points which are required for an immediate jump shift. The proper call is three, no trump, which describes a balanced hand containing 16, 17, or 18 points in high cards. Partner will then be in position to judge the partnership assets and act accordingly.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Joan Collins is Bill has certainly, step by step going to marry Warren Beatty, become one of Walt's most valuable aides.

This she confirmed when I talked with her on Wednesday. She leaves for Rome June 7 to co-star with Richard Egan in "Story of Esther."

She said, "A few days before I leave for Rome Warren and I are going to announce our engagement. He'll have to stay in New York because of 'Splendor in the Grass' which he is making with Natalie Wood for Elia Kazan. He'll join me in Rome in August if he is finished. If not, I'll come back as soon as 'Esther' is completed. We won't marry until we finish our present assignments."

Joan said she told 20th Century-Fox she would do the picture although both she and Warren hate to be separated.

John Ford, who has forgotten more about directing than many directors will ever know in a lifetime, was having a ball directing his pal, Ward Bond, in a "Wagon Train" segment when I talked with him. It's John's third TV job, and you can take it from me he polished up the script and authored the story.

I asked John about Woody Strode, former football star and twice All-America, who was in his most recent movie "Sergeant Rutledge."

"Woody will play a top character role—an Indian chief—in a western I am preparing," said John.

The rival given Fred MacMurray in "The Absent-Minded Professor" is Elliott Reid, who comes here from Broadway to play a stuffy college teacher and Fred's romantic rival who is in a continual lather over MacMurray's forgetfulness of the girl they both love. Reid joins Fred, Keenan Wynn, Nancy Olson and the rest of the cast at Walt Disney's in June.

Reid has just appeared with Hermione Gingold in "From A to Z," and recently on Ed Sullivan's TV show giving satirical impressions.

Bill Walsh, who scripted "The Absent-Minded Professor" with William Roberts, is also serving as associate producer for Disney.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Speak Sweetly!

A woman's voice should be soft as an afternoon cloud on a clear summer day and as low as she can keep it without letting it become monotonous! And at the same time, her words must be easily understood, for getting ideas over to another person is the real purpose of speaking.

I'm sure that you believe your ideas deserve to be heard. You would not speak if you did not think so. You'll find it's well worth your while to give your thoughts the best possible voice. If you whisper them, nobody can hear them. If you shout them, nobody will want to hear them. Your goal is to state your thoughts in a steady voice that is easy to hear. When you accomplish this, you'll find that your ideas are being received with greater acceptance than ever before.

To regulate the smoothness of your delivery and the volume of your voice, all you need to do is learn to control your breathing. It's the way you breathe that determines the amount of energy your voice has. To prove this, try reading your newspaper aloud until you are out of breath. See how jerky your words become . . . how your voice dwindles to a hoarse whisper?

Now take a deep breath and begin to read aloud again. Pretend that you want someone in the next house to hear you. Let the air out of your lungs slowly and talk on your breath. Measure the length of the sentences you are reading so that when you are running out of air you can refill your lungs between sentences and not in the middle of one.

Practice until you can read a paragraph as long as the one above without taking a new breath. It is an accomplishment that will make you far more pleasant to hear and therefore to know!

For further tips on the secrets of a charming voice, see my popular pamphlet, "YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE." A copy's yours for 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper.

Spying And The Peace Offensive

Encouraging aspect of recent international developments is the revelation that Washington is taking every possible step to guard against surprise attack. The danger of such an attack may be greatest just before or during a "peace" conference.

The Soviet Union has been blazoning its hostility toward the United States for 40 years. Not even "the spirit of Camp David" stopped this flood of invective. Russia continually boasts that her military might is greater than that of the U. S. and proclaims that she is not afraid to use it. "We will bury you," is Khrushchev's personal threat.

Locations of American launching sites and weapons tests are announced to the world, usually in advance. The U. S. needs similar information about Russian military activities to guard against surprise attack. The only way it can be gained is through intelligence activities.

Should these activities be suspended whenever the Russians launch a "peace" offensive? Lenin has written of the strategy of using a peace offensive to induce the target of a projected attack to let down his guard. But Americans don't need Lenin to remind them that the attack on Pearl Harbor was launched while Japanese representatives were in Washington for negotiations.

Americans do not need to be reminded that the Hitler-Stalin pact was secretly concluded while British negotiators were in Moscow trying to negotiate a stop-Hitler agreement.

Or that the surprise attack which started the Korean War followed a Communist peace offensive.

If the armed forces had let down their guard against surprise attack during a Communist peace offensive, and if an attack had come, public indignation against Washington would have dwarfed the outraged outcry which arose after Pearl Harbor.

These Days

The Vice Presidency

Both parties are going to have more than considerable difficulty selecting a Vice President. Among the Democrats, those who do not favor Senator John Kennedy for President would prefer a Johnson-Kennedy or a Symington-Kennedy ticket depending upon whichever candidate for President is preferred. Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York and Governor Pat Brown of California are candidates for Vice President in the event that Kennedy is not nominated.

The situation regarding the Vice Presidency in the Democratic Party is fluid and no particular person is favored. What happens will depend upon who is nominated for the Presidency; what part of the country he comes from; whether he is a conservative or a liberal and other considerations.

In the Republican Party, there are those who favor Nelson Rockefeller for Vice President on the assumption that he has a sufficient following to be important. There are some Republicans who believe that a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket could win. On the other hand, there are Republicans who feel that Rockefeller is not a Republican, that he cannot really be associated with either party, but operates entirely on his own. They have observed him as Governor of New York State and are not over-enthusiastic.

The conservative Republicans want Senator Barry Goldwater to be chosen as Vice President and will put up a stiff fight for him. His following is growing because he is a man of sincerity. But it is generally held that Goldwater will not be nominated. First of all, he comes from a small state; secondly, he is a Westerner like Nixon; thirdly, he is too far on the Right for Nixon who cannot altogether cut loose from the Eisenhower Administration of which he has been a part.

It would seem that the one man in the Republican Party who fits the cut for Vice President in 1960 is Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Coming from a leading New England family, he is a resident of New York. As Nixon comes from California, Lodge fits the requirement for an Easterner for Vice President.

He has had a long legislative experience, having served in the Massachusetts General Court, as the state legislature there is called. He has served in the United States Senate. He has been a newspaper reporter and has a good military record.

But his principal service to the country has been as the United States Ambassador to the United Nations and on the Security Council where he proved himself to be an excellent debater and diplomat, giving the Russians a hard time when necessary. He has withstood the attacks on the United States courageously and without compromise. His understanding of Russian techniques is better than most.

The Lodge family was brought up on the experience of governing. Henry Cabot Lodge's grandfather had a long and distinguished career in the United States Senate. His brother, John, was Governor of Connecticut and is now our Ambassador to Spain.

An excellent campaigner and a good mixer, Henry Cabot Lodge could be a valuable addition to Nixon's campaign.

Apart from Barry Goldwater and Henry Cabot Lodge, no names are seriously mentioned for the Vice Presidency on the Republican side. There has been some talk of Senator Kenneth Keating of New York, who is a good speaker and humorist, but he is hardly known to the country.

No one ever runs for the Vice Presidency. Many who are candidates for the Presidency hope that they will be able to settle for second place. The Democratic contest is more lively and exciting than the Republican and therefore there are more prospects for the Vice Presidency. In the Republican Party, one of the major difficulties is that few men are willing to give up governorships or seats in the Senate for hanging the gavel in the Senate with a comparatively young President who, according to the averages, is likely to outlive two terms.

On the other hand, several members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet are of Vice Presidential proportions. Fred Seaton, Secretary of the Interior, and James Mitchell, Secretary of Labor, have often been mentioned in this connection. Both are prospects and possibilities, although Mitchell seemed to be in disfavor with Nixon on occasion. Seaton comes from Nebraska, is a newspaper owner and very personable. This then is the line-up for the second place on both tickets. The choice will be picked, as is customary, by the candidate for President.

Republicans Will Win Decisively With Nixon

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Analysis of traditional habits in politics and the habits of thought of organization leaders tells far more about who is going to be nominated at a political convention than do polls or primary elections.

Based on just such an analysis, this correspondent wrote on March 7, just before the New Hampshire primary, that Senator Kennedy "is likely to win the Democratic nomination" and that, "if he is blocked, the compromise candidate will be Adlai Stevenson."

On April 7, after the Wisconsin primary, this writer said in these dispatches:

"The Wisconsin primary, by all the rules of politics, should mean that Senator Kennedy will be regarded as the front-runner from now on. This means that the other candidates will tend to combine against him. There are other primary contests, to be sure, but Senator Kennedy will gain ground in all of them, as he has the organization and the finances back of him to win the necessary delegate strength."

What is really meant by "the organization and the finances"? Certainly there is not the slightest basis for any implication that votes are bought. Nor is it to be assumed that the word "organization" means the regular party machinery. In pre-convention campaigns, each candidate develops his own organization and, if he has money enough, he will engage precinct workers everywhere to get voters to the polls, transporting them in autos when necessary. More important still, the organization will know where to find the indifferent voters who can be persuaded by friends to vote for the candidate such friends favor.

These "organization" workers carry sample ballots printed in advance, and in a state like

West Virginia, where there are few precincts with voting machines, it means that the citizen takes the sample ballot into the voting booth and is not bewildered when confronted with a long list of state and local candidates. He is enabled to go right to the spot on the ballot and put his mark down.

This is an old pattern in American politics, and it takes a lot of money to pay for a big organization that really gets out the vote. The total Kennedy vote in West Virginia was about 220,000, which is less than half of the Democratic vote cast for Adlai Stevenson in 1952, when he carried the state against General Eisenhower. It isn't difficult to line up a minority bloc in any state primary if you have the money and the organization.

The Kennedy forces can do it hereafter in every primary, and they will confront the Democratic National Convention with the legitimate query: "Since we have won most of the primaries, how can you turn us down?"

This correspondent believes that the West Virginia primary result not only has helped Senator Kennedy toward the Democratic nomination but actually has helped toward the election of Vice President Nixon, who is certain to be the Republican nominee.

Once the so-called "religious issue" is out of the way—and it now will be so viewed by many politicians because West Virginia has a relatively small number of Catholics in its voting population—the tendency will be to appraise the Massachusetts

LEARNING TO FLY — If you want to learn to fly or put in some flying time inexpensively, get a job with the armed forces anywhere near one of its many bases.

The Air branch of the military services has quietly initiated a new recreation and morale program for Defense Department military and civilian personnel, encouraging flight training and practice.

It provides "excess" aircraft to more than 200 flying clubs it sponsors in the United States and overseas. Members pay an initiation fee of $25 and dues of about $3 a month, entitling them to fly at a rental rate of about half they would pay if they rented from commercial operators.

Some clubs have prospered to the point where they own some of their planes, provide expert instructors and operate on the social as well as the flight level.

Club members must bear the cost of minor damages to planes, but if one is totally wrecked the Air Force picks up the tab.

High military officials feel that beyond the recreational and morale-building value, they'll have an experienced core of flyers to draw on in case of a national emergency.

Take Care Of Your Arteries To Keep Them Open

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Arteries are our life lines, and when one of these vessels becomes blocked, the flow of nutrition to a particular organ is stopped. A heart attack occurs when the coronary artery is obstructed, whereas a stroke takes place if a cerebral vessel is involved.

Treating these disorders is important but is comparable to closing the barn door after the horse escapes. We must prevent or delay the basic cause—hardening of the arteries.

The initial program is aimed at conditions that hasten to contribute to arteriosclerosis. Overweight and high blood pressure are high on the list, explaining why coronary thrombosis and apoplexy are so common in persons with these conditions.

Men with a combination of hypertension and obesity are 3½ times more vulnerable to heart attacks than are persons with neither of these disorders. The lesson to learn is to get weight and blood pressure down—and soon.

An elevated blood cholesterol level makes us more susceptible to arteriosclerosis. There is no doubt that a relationship exists but we are not certain whether the fats in the diet are responsible or whether the cholesterol level is influenced by exercise, stress, glandular disturbances, or disease. At any rate, most physicians suggest reducing the level with diet, vegetable oils, steroids, or certain hormones.

We do not know whether this is the answer to the problem. From the practical point of view, avoid large amounts of animal fat or fried foods. Don't put butter or margarine on vegetables. Fruits are the best type of desserts; this means less ice cream, cake, and pies. A breakfast of skim milk, cereal, fruit, toast, and jam contains less cholesterol than bacon, fried eggs, and buttered toast.

Heavy smoking and inactivity play a role in the cholesterol level. So does heredity. But since we can't select our grandparents we must concentrate on the other factors, particularly when there is a family history of cardiovascular disease.

HORNY GROWTH ON SKIN

K. J. writes: I'm 40 and recently had a growth removed from my nose that the doctor called a senile keratosis. Am I not somewhat young to have a senile growth?

REPLY

Shame on your surgeon; the least he could have done was call it a middle-aged keratosis. There are various forms of keratoses, by definition, are circumscribed overgrowths of horny and thickened skin. Those that develop in older persons are called senile keratoses and are indistinguishable from the lesions that are seen in younger persons from overexposure to wind and sun.

Russia Has Nullified U.S. Policy Of Encirclement Of Soviet Camp

By Drew Pearson

PARIS — Seldom has a great international conference opened in a more torrid atmosphere of distrust and suspicion than the summit meeting opening today. Seldom however has an international conference been more needed to iron out the misunderstandings and allay the distrust.

Out of the current welter of charges and countercharges, of rocket-rambling and espionage threats, one all-important fact stands out: Russia has nullified the United States policy of containment and is carrying her own containment drive across two oceans to her shores.

This is the most important switch in the position of the world's two greatest powers since Nikita Khrushchev sat down opposite President Eisenhower in Geneva five years ago. At that time our containment policy had Russia solidly hemmed in. Our bases, ranging from Berlin through Greece, Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Thailand to the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and Japan were solid.

Now American influence in those countries not only is slipping but Moscow has reversed our containment policy and is establishing bases and influence near our shores. Here is the scorecard on Russia's reversal of our containment policy:

Base 90 Miles From U. S.

1.—The new Cuban-Soviet alliance plus Fidel Castro's announcement that Cuba would not support the United States in a war with Russia, plus the building of secret diesel oil tanks on the Cuban island of Cayo Largo, all add up to a potential Communist base only 90 miles from our coast.

2.—The agitation for return of the Panama Canal to Panama follows the exact pattern of Egypt's Nasser against the British in Suez. It began after Castro's right-hand man, pro-Communist "Che" Guevara, paid a visit to Cairo.

3.—The constant patrol of Soviet submarines along the Atlantic coast, one even entering Norfolk harbor, constitutes the same kind of "observation" our planes have been giving the Soviets, except for one important difference—the Soviet subs remain chiefly in international waters.

4.—The recent long-range missile test from the Caspian Sea to the Pacific Ocean south of Hawaii is calculated among other things to illustrate how easily Moscow could penetrate a water area generally considered our sphere of influence.

5.—Russian trade deals had a significant impact on even our best friend in Latin America, Brazil. Brazilian papers recently headlined with hosannas a paltry 330,000-bag coffee barter while giving no publicity to a 1,500,000-bag purchase by General Foods. Russia is trading wheat and oil for the 330,000 bags while General Foods is paying $60,000,000 cash for five times as much but, symptomatic of what is happening in Latin America, the Russian deal got the headlines in Brazil's paper and General Foods' purchase was blacked out.

Smoldering Resentment

Moscow's vehemence against U. S. containment bases around the Soviet borders has been especially irate since the U-2 spy plane was shot down 1,300 miles inside the Soviet, culminating with Defense Minister Malinovsky's threat to erase all bases from which American observation planes take off. Actually the resentment has been boiling quietly for a long time. In fact, nothing has irked the Kremlin leaders more than the U. S.

bases within a stone's throw of their borders which they compare with their having bases in Mexico or Panama.

For a long time the Soviets were helpless to do anything about our containment policy but now, with their increasing missile strength, Moscow has undertaken a carefully calculated policy of undermining these bases. Here are the most important of our containment bases and what's happening to them:

Berlin — This is the most potent symbol of capitalistic enterprise and western freedom sticking right into the ribs of the Communist bloc and Khrushchev has warned this conference that he is ready to use force to remove it. Behind Berlin in West Germany is the strongest network of U. S. defense in Europe.

Turkey — It's only one kilometer of no-man's-land between the Turkish and Russian borders, and Turkey is peppered with American bases from which planes fly all along the Russian border. Sometimes over it. The recent student riots against Turkish Premier Menderes got help from Communist agents and weakened the pro-American Turkish government.

Korea — Similar riots against Syngman Rhee sprang from natural political opposition but had some secret Communist support. So far the new government is strongly for the United States but conditions in Korea are fluid.

Pakistan — Has been one of our most important observation bases but Pakistan's Foreign Minister made a timid statement following the shooting of a Russian plane indicating he would prevent such flights in the future.

Japan — Here the Socialists and Communists have long delayed ratification of a 10-year defense treaty giving the United States bases in Japan for 10 years.

That's the score to date in Moscow's drive to throw off encirclement by U. S. bases. What the score will be after Khrushchev intensifies his drive at this conference is a vital question to watch.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

We sat in the sun sipping coffee. Her name, she said, was Jane Wood and she was from the Hank Meyer Office in Miami Beach. Miss Wood had black hair and molasses skin and the nervous air of a sportswoman who is trying to catch a fish with kisses. She is a press agent and she asked me if I would be interested in writing stories about some of her clients.

It occurred to me, while Miss Wood was talking, that people in the field of public relations have become the most important anonymity in the field of journalism. There was a time, not long ago, when press agents were not permitted inside a newspaper office. Today, the papers have their own press agents and call them Promotion Managers.

Public Relations is now taught as a craft in many universities. Some P.A.'s are so big that they sit on boards of directors. The reason why they are important is that they no longer place the emphasis on getting someone's name in the newspaper, but rather on finding the story and then locating the proper medium for it.

Many of the stories you read from day to day, which are not in the field of spot news (like homicides and accidents), are inspired by P.A.'s. Editors are sharp of eye and pencil and they will use legitimate stories talked up by press agents, but consign the phony suits, the spurious romances, the dizzy stunts, to the wastebasket.

Miss Wood asked if I would be interested in a story about Tommy Tucker, who runs a group of motels. I didn't think so. There was another story about another client — the island of Aruba. I said I might do it in the autumn. A third one was about a man named Adolf Frohn, who teaches porpoises to do tricks at the Miami Seaquarium. It lacked depth.

She set my mind to the daily mail, much of which comes in from press agents all over the country. It has led to many fine stories for me, and some which smelled up the newspapers that syndicate this column.

Hortense Shor of Columbia Pictures helped me to get a column about Paul Muni shooting a movie on a Brooklyn street. Bob Matell of National Air Lines talked me into a good yarn about a gray-haired pilot in a jet. Eve Siegel brought Hildegard on a gold plated. Mary McCloud opened all the doors of the Waldorf-

Astoria and a few of the dark closets.

Harry Brand of 20th Century-Fox got me into Jayne Mansfield's dressing room. For a story, of course. Mack Millar promotes Bob Hope. Al Horwitz does as much for Stanley Kramer; Joe Le Tourneau can get exciting stories for you about Alitalia Lines; if you want to know about Jimmy Hoffa, see Curly Harris and John J. McCarthy.

Ned Moss promotes the fortunes of the Grand Bahamas Club; Beverly Griffith digs up fascinating material about Eastern Air Lines; you won't know the inside story of Palisades Park unless Sol Abrams gives it to you. Something about CBS on your mind? See Dorothy Leffler. I knew Willis Player when he was with Pan American Air Lines; now he writes poetry about American Air Lines.

For information on Florida real estate, drop a line to Tom Ferris at Key Biscayne. The last word on the American Theatre is penned daily by Richard Maney. No celebrity enters the sacrosanct precincts of the Pump Room in Chicago without Lucia Perrigo's knowledge. Muriel Roberts used to handle Kim Novak's publicity, and travel with her too.

There are thousands and thousands of them. They work for organizations as big as General Motors and as small as a New York delicatessen. Richard Smith enhances the fortunes of the Miami Herald; Sid Panzer does it for the New York Mirror.

All of the candidates for President of the United States have their press departments. Even the government has what it calls a U. S. Information Service, which is P.A. spelled sideways. General Trujillo enjoyed such a bad press that he used to change public relations men once a month. The beginners in the business average $50 per week per client. The better ones get up to $1,000 and more per week.

I used to think of it as a good post for reporters with old legs. It isn't. Public Relations is as much a part of journalism today as the copy desk and the stereotypers. The P.A. screens the story for the reporter.

Come to think of it, even I have a press agent. He works for the syndicate and his name is Joe Willcombe Jr. Now there's a candidate for "What's My Line?"

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

At a meeting to discuss the role of the serious writer in America today, Miss Dorothy Parker put an end to a lot of pompous and elegant phraseology, as she has done so often in the past, by rising to her feet, surveying the audience soberly, and remarking, "The business of a writer is to write — and not to put on airs about being a writer." Then she sat down — and a lot of people present felt that a draught of pure, fresh air had blown away a lot of pretentious nonsense.

It is the same Dorothy Parker who recalls a day when the late Harold Wallace Ross, founder and editor of the New Yorker, covered the margin of a Robert Benchley contribution with his usual caustic "What mean?" and "Who he?" Benchley, unperturbed, simply crossed out the questions, wrote below them, "You keep out of this, Ross," and resubmitted the piece. It ran complete and unchanged in the next issue.

Don Cardwell Hurls No-Hitter In Debut With Chicago

Cub Hurler Turns Back Cards, 4-0

Don Misses Perfect Game; St. Louis Cops Opening Game, 6-1

By GENE BLUDEAU

CHICAGO (UPI)—Don Cardwell, who came to the Chicago Cubs in a desperate search for a front line pitcher, hurled a no-hitter Sunday to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-0, in the second game of a doubleheader.

It was the first no-hitter pitched against the Cardinals in 41 years—since Horace Eiler of the Reds achieved one on May 11, 1919.

Cardwell's brilliant performance came before a crowd of 33,543 and after the Cardinals had won the opener, 6-1.

Misses Perfect Game

Cardwell, a 6-4 righthander, who came to the Chicago Cubs after three seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies, faced only 28 batters in the one hour, 46-minute game. He missed a perfect game when he issued a first inning walk to Alex Grammas, second batter to face him.

But the cool Cardwell recovered perfect control and set the Cardinals down in order the rest of the way for a sparkling victory in his debut with the Cubs. Cardwell was mobbed by his teammates, and an army of ushers was unable to hold the crowd from storming on to the field to congratulate Cardwell.

The Cardinals hit only seven balls to the outfield. Cardwell struck out seven batters and never had an uneasy moment on the mound.

Cardwell, who came to the Cubs in last Friday's trade along with Ed Bouchee from the Phillies, pitched the first no-hitter in Wrigley Field since Sam Jones turned the trick on May 12, 1955.

First Of Season

It was the first no-hitter of the season in the majors. Harvey Haddix, Pittsburgh Pirates left hander, pitched an unprecedented 12 perfect innings in Milwaukee May 26, but lost the game, 1-0, on a 13th inning hit.

The victory was only the second of the season for Cardwell, who suffered two defeats with the Phils this year. A resident of Winston-Salem, N.C., Cardwell, 25, played three seasons for the Phils, starting in 1957. Last season his record was 9-10 with an earned run average of 4.06.

Giants Beat Dodgers, 2-0

Cepeda's Two-Run Triple Decides

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Orlando Cepeda's two-run triple broke up a pitching battle in Candlestick Park between San Francisco's Johnny Antonelli and Dodger's Johnny Podres and gave the Giants a 2-0 victory over Los Angeles Sunday.

The triumph was the Giants' first over Podres since 1958. The two left-handers duelled on even terms through seven innings with both teams missing scoring opportunities.

But with one out in the eighth, Willie Mays walked and Willie McCovey singled. Cepeda, who had been in a batting slump, crashed his triple deep into center, scoring Mays and Jim Marshall, running for the sore-throated McCovey. It was Cepeda's second extra base hit of the day.

Wynn Hands Tribe First Shutout, 4-0

Kuenn Homer Beats Gerry Staley, 6-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Early Wynn shut out the Cleveland Indians for the first time this season on a five hitter Sunday as the Indians and the Chicago White Sox split a doubleheader.

The White Sox won the first 4-0. The Indians came from behind in the second, tied the game in the ninth inning and won 6-3 in the 10th on a home run by Harvey Kuenn, his first of the season.

Kuenn's blast over the center-field fence, scoring Johnny Temple and Jimmy Piersall ahead of him, cost Chicago reliever Gerry Staley his first defeat of the season.

In the first game, Chicago got its first run in the fourth. Ted Kluszewski, who had singled, scored on a double by Sherm Lollar and a sacrifice fly by Al Smith.

Moorefield Is Winner Over Barrelville, 5-4

Cards Lose In 11th To Mt. Savage, 4-3; Frostburg Wins, 5-0

Moorefield scored its second straight win of the season in the Pen-Mar Baseball League by beating Barrelville, 1939 pennant winner, by the score of 5-4 yesterday at Moorefield.

Mt. Savage nosed out the Salisbury Cardinals in an 11-inning battle at Mt. Savage, 4-3, and Frostburg Merchants made their home debut with a 5-0 decision over Flintstone.

The Hyndman at Centerville game was postponed on account of wet grounds.

A two-run rally in the 8th enabled Moorefield to come from behind to beat Barrelville. Paul Raines' two-out single scored the tying and winning runs after Harlan Hott had walked and Bob Keller hit safely.

Gordon Raines went the route for Moorefield, yielding 11 hits and fanned three. Jesse Markley, who started out the mound for Barrelville and was lifted for Bobby Raines in the 8th, took the loss. Markley walked six and fanned four.

Miller Glass and Morris shared six of the losers' hits. Keller rapped a pair of singles and Will Newhouse and Harlan Hott banged doubles for the West Virginians.

Neubiser Wins Duel
Successive singles by Rodney Johnson, Jack Brant and Fay "Tag" Offen in the 11th inning scored the run that gave Mt. Savage the decision over Somerset County.

The uprisings in the second extra frame enabled Ronnie Neubiser to win a neat pitching duel from Don Carey. Carey yielded 13 hits and whiffed 11. Neubiser was touched for 10 blows and struck out 6.

In addition to his winning hit, Offen also had another single and triple. Ron Neubiser rapped three singles. Jon Witt had two safeties and Steve Faulkner tripled and turned in the best fielding play, a backhanded catch of a drive to centerfield.

Brown obtained three singles and Atwood smacked a double and single to pace Salisbury.

Reed Blanks Aggies
Roy "Lefty" Reed tossed a two-hitter and moved down ten on strikes as Frostburg scored its first victory in the league.

Back-to-back singles by John Price and Jim Hammond in the third frame were the only safeties given up by Reed.

Donnie Lewis accounted for two of Frostburg's eight blows and Joe Taylor had a two-bagger. Jim Fletcher, Flintstone pitcher, fanned six.

Sports Car Traffic Plan Works Well

Entire Police Dept. Pressed Into Service

The entire Police Department of Cumberland was joined by auxiliary police yesterday and Saturday to move the heavy traffic during the windup of the Sports Carnival.

Chief B. Frank Gaffney said the police did "very well" and didn't miss a trick in keeping the traffic on the move.

He pointed out there were no major tie-ups after the sports car races held yesterday afternoon at the Municipal Airport.

Chief Gaffney said the busy intersection at Central YMCA got a real test yesterday and Saturday.

Several police were stationed at that end of Baltimore Street, and kept the flow of traffic on the go.

Police were located all over town at strategic intersections, especially in South Cumberland along the route to and from the airport in Wiley Ford.

Off-duty police reported for work at 6 p. m. Saturday and had the traffic situation in hand by 9:30 or 10 p. m. Yesterday the off-duty policemen reported for work about 3 p. m., and finished at 7:20 p. m.

In view of the heavy traffic during weekends of Sports Car Races and previous traffic jams, city officials last week mapped plans to cope with the anticipated problem.

Towson Alumni Oppose College Branch Plans

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—The alumni association of Towson State Teachers College has passed a resolution opposing a proposal to make the college a branch of the University of Maryland.

The resolution, approved with little discussion Saturday by more than 100 alumni who attended an annual meeting, said the "proposed merger would not be in the best interests of the education of youth in the state of Maryland."

An executive study commission has proposed the annexation by the University of Maryland of the teachers colleges at Towson, Salisbury and Frostburg.

Nice Day For The Races

These shorts-clad young people are seen huddling in conversation during the National Championship Sports Car Races yesterday at Municipal Airport. After a solid week of cool, rainy weather which threatened to spoil the races, yesterday dawned bright and sunny, and summery apparel was seen everywhere.

He Couldn't Care Less

Excited fans in background point out action on the Municipal Airport sports car race track during the fifth race yesterday, but the fellow in the foreground found the warm sun and the balmy breezes more tempting than the excitement below. He's unidentified—the News photographer couldn't bring himself to wake the sleeper and learn his name.

SRC To Begin New Highways Construction

BALTIMORE (AP)—An estimated 72 million dollars worth of interstate and primary highway projects will be advertised for bids by the State Roads Commission during the coming fiscal year.

Commission Chairman John B. Funk announced the plans during the weekend. It is the first phase in an accelerated five-year program approved by the 1960 General Assembly.

The commission warned that unless funds were diverted from the earlier scheduled 12-year program, the state would have exhausted its funds in 1965 with only a piecemeal arterial system completed.

The tentative program for the fiscal year beginning July 1 includes about 61 miles on Maryland's primary system and about 17 miles on the interstate system.

Interstate mileage includes about 15 miles on the Baltimore Beltway, the Carderock interchange on the Capitol Beltway, and Capitol Beltway projects at Maryland routes 5 and 430.

Funk said the commission also is studying the programming of secondary highway projects involving about 8 million dollars.

Primary road projects include: Dual bridges carrying U.S. 340 over Catocin Creek in Frederick County.

Reconstruction of 1 1/2 miles of U. S. 40 from Willowbrook Road to west of Naves Road, Allegany County.

Dual highway 2.2 miles from Sideling Hill relocation to Town Hill relocation, Allegany County.

Dual highway 3.7 miles from 15-mile Creek to top of Polish Mountain, Allegany County.

Relocation and reconstruction of 1.7 miles of U. S. 219 from Hoyes toward McHenry, Garrett County.
